THE PRESIDENT

Tells Lowell People That All He Wants is Square Deal

TAFT'S LAST WORDS TO LOWELL VOTERS

"No man has the right to misrepresent another to get himself up in office, no matter how humble that man is."

"Condemn me if you will, but condemn me by other witnesses than Theodore Roosevelt."

"I was a man of straw; but I have been a man of straw long enough. Every man who has blood in his body and who has been misrepresented as I have been is forced to fight. I appeal to my friends in Massachusetts, who, I think, believe in a square deal."

President William Howard Taft was given a rousing reception in this city last evening. The rain interfered somewhat with the program as originally planned and less than one-tenth of those who would have heard him had he spoken on the South common were privileged to hear him in the Opera House. Lowell was included in the president's sweep through the eastern section of the state; a sweep that developed into one of the greatest demonstrations over a candidate for office ever seen in the Bay State. The president expressed his intense gratification at the reception given him in Lowell and said it indicated that the people here believe in a square deal.

The President's Arrival

It was generally conceded that had the day been fine more than 20,000 people would have greeted the president at the depot, but instead of going to the depot the crowd rushed for the Opera House and joined in the great battle for seats. More rushed to the South common, believing that the original plans would carry and they thought that by getting to the common early they would be able to get a position near the stand erected for the president. The crowd at the depot, however, was quite large enough for comfort and it was difficult for one in a hurry to pick one's way through the sea of umbrellas that pitched and tossed in a way that was dangerous to the eye.

Even up to the last moment it was believed that the president would speak on the South common rather than at the Opera House and that was the intention of the president and his party when they left the depot in their automobiles, but plans were altered on the way and they went to the Opera House instead of to the common.

Crowd Was Disappointed

The crowd on the South common would have filled five Opera Houses and there was great disappointment when the word was passed around that the president had gone to the Opera House. The stand erected on the common had been covered over and when that fact was noted it was thought that the president would surely speak there. Men, women and children scrambled for places near the stand and before they realized that the chief executive would not speak from the stand it was too late for them to stand even the ghost of a show at the Opera House and they felt very badly about it. One little boy ran away from his mother declaring, with tears streaming down his cheeks, that he would see the president. "I want to shake hands with him," he said, and soon he was lost in the crowd.

Arrival at Opera House

The doors to the Opera House were closed when the president arrived. They had been closed at 5.30 o'clock in order to keep back the crowd and the streets were blocked when the president arrived. It was thought that the president would enter by way of the stage entrance but it was finally decided to have him enter at the main entrance. The police had a few busy moments but there was very little delay and the first intimation that those in the theatre had of the president's presence was when some one shouted "He's here." The president was half way down the aisle at that time and following the words "he's here" came a mighty cheer and the applause was continued until the president had reached the platform. He shook hands with as many as he could on the way and the band that had done escort duty was on the outside playing "Hail to the Chief."

whom I have learned to love, to believe in and to trust," said Mr. Ames, and three times three were given with a will.

The president's delight with so heartily a reception shone in his eyes and great sympathy was expressed when he started to speak. He was in very bad voice as the result of the many speeches he had made during the day and it was really a hardship for him to talk. He commented on the fact that he was in very bad voice but allowed that it would limber up before he got through.

The President's Speech

The president spoke substantially as follows:

"I wish to apologize to you for being here," he said in his opening. "I am sorry to have to be here. I feel it would be a great deal better if the president of the United States could not be forced into a personal and political controversy and have to travel all about the country and make political speeches in defence of himself and his administration. I think it would be wise if an amendment to the constitution were enacted which would make the term of the president six or seven years and which should forbid him from being a candidate for the office again."

"I have been forced to speak in de-

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF LOWELL

In view of the national crisis that confronts the people of this nation in the coming presidential election, every citizen today has a duty to perform in the exercise of his franchise in the cause of safe and stable government. The voice of Massachusetts will count for much in the selection of candidates, and that voice should be heard on the side of wise conservatism rather than of radicalism gone mad. The republican party is apparently lined up with the dangerous forces of this nation and it, therefore, remains for the democratic party to stand for the protection of the courts, the constitution and the perpetuity of this republic. Let every democrat, therefore, exercise good judgment in voting at the primaries for the best, the ablest and most honest men, the men who can meet and defeat the surging elements that threaten the very existence of this republic.

Vote for:—

Eight delegates at large, eight alternates.

Two district delegates, two alternates.

One candidate for president, one candidate for vice president. ¶

THE SHERIFF AT KEITH'S THEATRE THIS WEEK.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

One of the prettiest vaudeville acts in the city is that of Keith's animal entertainers consisting of dogs, cats, doves and rabbits, a most unusual combination and a most charming one. The "professor" claims that his pets are "the greatest limit of animal intelligence" and after seeing them perform one will cheerfully agree with him. The cats, doves and rabbits are all pure white and are beautiful to behold even if they didn't act. As the curtain rises the rabbits are seen charmingly arranged on a platform. Then the company goes through a series of stunts with a cat for a companion. The feline has an answering to work. Then two puppies on their hind limbs chase each other in close embrace and to the music of "Every Little Movement" wait patiently about the stage keeping excellent time. The closing act is of rare beauty. A large balloon is suspended from the flies and the cats jump up to it climbing hold and clinging by their claws. Then white doves circle about the theatre and finally light on the top of the balloon while underneath the dogs and rabbits appear. The stage is lighted and the spot light thrown on the balloon. Its pure white freight presentation character effect.

Beauty—real beauty—is more than skin deep. No cosmetic in the world can give the whole color, the bright eyes, the clear, transparent skin that is the natural result of pure blood, proper diet and hygienic habits of daily life.

It sounds easy and it is easy for a woman to have the beauty which health alone can give. A safe and efficient tonic if the blood is weak, thin or impure (Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are especially recommended), the avoidance of foods which will cause eruptions, and regular bathing of the skin. That is all and it is the only way.

Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 100 N. 10th St., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "How to Get the Best Out of Your Skin." It is a booklet that perfectly proper little book and should be read by every woman and young girl. After reading of the booklet, "Pink Pills" will also be sent you. Should you be unable to obtain Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in your locality, they will be sent you by mail for $2.00.

Will contract to sponge, press and repair your clothes, call for and deliver them in its auto at a most reasonable price. Phone 3960. Let's talk it over with you.

is an act that delights all. George Felix and the Barry girls present a laughable sketch entitled "The Boy Next Door." Felix is a grotesque comedian with funny face and nose and full of acrobatic stunts that make you laugh while the Barry girls are charming singers and dancers and are there with the comedy. They are charmingly gay. One of the versatile stage hands is "Rona" in on this act for a time bit of fun with Mr. Felix.

Nat Leopold, the world-famous card man, comes out with nothing up his sleeve and routine in his hands but a deck of cards. He invites a committee of citizens to sit on the stage chosen by him and observe him closely. Then he proceeds to get busy and does the most mystifying tricks ever seen. The committee gets no wiser than the audience, but all agree that the stunts performed are marvellous.

"She-It-Who," a western drama in one act, with plenty of action but not a blood and thunder production, is capably presented by Charles A. Keene ably assisted by Clay Clement and Miss B. Brown. The story is that of a road agent who robs his own sister, being unaware of her identity. He makes his way to the home of the sheriff and there the secret of his relationship to the woman he has robbed is disclosed and everything ends well after an intensely interesting sequence of events. Mr. Keene gives a fine interpretation of the role of the sheriff and Mr. Clement has the "heavy" part of the road agent. Miss Brown filled the role of the girl most acceptably.

There is a young fellow, but he's there with the goods as a comedy juggler. He juggles everything and his act with the bats is particularly funny. Few have anything on him when it comes to throwing things into the air.

The Holdsworths, one of whom is a son of Col. Sam Holdsworth, America's oldest singer who appeared at the theatre here present a pleasing musical, dancing and jangle act. The made member of the team dances gracefully while playing his own accompaniment.

The Carter Taylor company takes music and mirth in a pleasing opening act entitled "Camp Rest."

The Four Phobias are comedy acrobats with a fine big budget of fun along with exceptional cleverness. The pictures and the orchestra's contribution are also pleasing features.

NOTES FROM DEPOT
Foreigners Continue to Come This Way

Immigrants continue to come to this country and many of them still arriving at the depot. This morning there were 32 who came here on the boat from Fall River. The most of the aliens were Russian Poles. Two of the number are Arabs, and the latter remained in Lowell. The others went to Lawrence and Nashua, N. H.

The 10:10 train was twenty minutes late this morning.

It is expected that the summer schedule of trains will go into effect on June 21 and in the opinion of many at the depot, several important changes will be made.

The owners of houses and hotels in the different summer resorts are getting ready for the vacation season. This morning three local women left for Oakbluffs at Mr. J. A. Vaneberg where they manage places during the summer months.

Mrs. M. J. Dales of this city left this morning on the 11:30 train from the Lowell depot for Portland, Me., via Bangor.

L. C. Ford, the popular newspaper editor at the town station, will leave this city on May 17 for a few days' vacation with his parents at Bangor.

SUPERIOR COURT
ARGUMENTS HEARD IN BLOW-CARPET CO. CASE

The attorneys in the case of the Blow Carpet Co. vs. Burton H. Wiggin and Peter Evers, a suit for the recovery of the price of the so-called Carpet Lay, resumed their arguments today in superior court where the case was started a few days ago, and at the time of going to press, they were still addressing the jury.

TAKING OUT LICENSES
Clark John J. Phiberty, of the license commission, was one of the busiest men in Lowell today. He was busy on the jump all during the day receiving applications for licenses which he received a grant. Up to the middle of the afternoon all but five of the licenses had been taken out.

MISS BILLIE BURKE IN "THE RUNAWAY" At the Opera House, Thursday Night.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In "The Runaway," the comedy which Miss Billie Burke brings to the Opera House next Thursday night, May 2, the popular young actress has found a role that is both professional and amusing, say the best town in her repertoire. Collette in this play is the heroine in which Miss Burke made her debut as a stage star a few years ago. It is one of those sweet young French girls whose innocence and ignorance are as beautiful as the landscape in the scenes of the play. The play is a comedy in which the heroine is a young girl who is mistaken for a runaway and is taken to a country place where she is kept in a room with a young man who is a runaway himself. The play is a comedy in which the heroine is a young girl who is mistaken for a runaway and is taken to a country place where she is kept in a room with a young man who is a runaway himself.

ASSAULT CHARGED

Man Accused of Throwing Stone at Officer Briggs

Bernard Sodalitis was arraigned before Judge Fisher in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Special Officer John J. Briggs. It is alleged that on April 18th while the officer was on duty, the defendant threw a brick at him and struck him over the left eye. This is one of the alleged assaults in connection with the strike demonstration in the vicinity of the Hamilton mills.

Officer Briggs testified that the defendant was mingling in a crowd that had gathered around the Hamilton mills. On the morning in question he claimed that while he was attempting to arrest a man, the defendant struck him with either a brick or a piece of stone.

Testifying, Mr. Briggs said: "It was about 6:30 o'clock in the morning when I was attempting to arrest a man in Middlesex street, near the corner of Elliot street that this man took a stone or a brick out of his pocket and threw it at me. It struck me in the head and made a gash over my left eye. I was treated by Dr. Jones."

The witness testified that the wound had caused him considerable trouble and he has been suffering from headaches which he never had before.

John C. Malone testified that he witnessed the assault and identified the defendant as the man who threw the brick.

Dr. William M. Jones was the next witness and he testified that he had attended Officer Briggs and took one stitch over the left eye.

The testimony offered by the defendant was a general denial.

At the conclusion of the case, the court took the matter under advisement, deferring sentence until tomorrow morning.

Novel Case Heard
One of the most interesting cases that has been brought to the attention of the local police court during the past several months was that of Kazimierz Komieny who was brought before the court this morning on a complaint charging him with having set a fire in the open air. Owing to the act of the legislature and the alleged non-acceptance of the act the court reserved decision until next Friday in order that counsel for the government might be able to show that the act had been accepted or explained why the complaint was brought under the act in question. According to the testimony offered the defendant occupied some land in Sladen street in Braintree and on last Sunday he decided to burn some stumps. Inasmuch as the man is a foreigner and probably ignorant of the law he did not realize that he was doing wrong until he was notified by the fire warden, Frank H. Gushner. The latter then turned the defendant over to one of the town constables. Peter Bolton testified to seeing the fire burning on Spout land and that the defendant and other people were trying to extinguish the flames. No defense was offered but Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue, who appeared for the defendant, explained to the court that the complaint had been drawn under chapter 241 of the acts and resolves of 1911 and that inasmuch as the town of Braintree had not accepted the act the action should not have been brought. Mr. Donahue argued at considerable length relative to the matter and after counsel on the other side had argued the court reserved a decision.

Stole Suit of Clothes
Frank T. Jones was charged with larceny and the larceny of a suit of clothes the property of Philip T. Tibbets. Mr. Tibbets testified that he met the defendant at the corner of Appleton and Elliot streets and said he was hungry and wanted something to eat. The newspaperman took Jones to his home in North street and supplied him with food and then went out for a few minutes and when he returned he found that a suit of clothes was missing. He reported the matter to the police and as a result of the activity of the members of the department, Patrolman Daniel W. Lane placed the man under arrest in Central street.

The defendant told a story which did not meet with the approval of the court and Judge Fisher found the man guilty and ordered him to be sentenced to one month in jail.

Drunken Offenders
Peter J. Laughlin, a parole man from the state farm, was in court this morning and will be returned to that institution. Charles H. McGee and James H. Edwards were fined $5 each. There were four first offenders who were fined $2 each and several simple drunks were released before the opening of the court.

THEATRE VOYONS
The laugh is a pleasure and one gets his fill of it at the Theatre Voyons today if he sees "Alkali Ike's Guarding House." Every foot brings a full round laugh for it is a real truly comedy hit. The star performer is none other than Alkali Ike, the little homely western comedian of the Essanay company and his companions in the riot of fun are many and clever. The story is not grotesque and the comedy is just the kind most suited to the public demand. Don't miss it. Two sterling dramatic productions, "A Little Wagon Wheel" and "One is Business and the Other Crime"—the latter a biograph—are strong favorites and deserve a go. The musical numbers are excellent.

MR. AND MRS. DANNY MANN AT MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The Merrimack Square theatre is this week presenting to its many patrons a program as has seldom been seen on any local stage. The offering which is sure to please everybody and partly proven it last night, is the one presented by the "Temple Players," a company of able singers and dancers. This troupe is garbed in the Scotch national costume and their program of songs and dances cannot be paralleled. The company is composed of eight women and four men, all able performers, and for a good hour they supply chorus selections and solos which are very pleasing. The entire act is a thoroughly entertaining throughout and is worth seeing, for among the cast are singers of rare ability. Another pleasing number on the program is furnished by Mr. and Mrs.

Danny Mann in "Shady Hawkins." The piece has been seen in this city before but nevertheless it is interesting. The stage effect is very pretty and the play is rendered in a delightful manner.

Henry Johnson, otherwise known as "The Man in the Golden Shoes," is a far maker of race ability. His specialty is a little talk on women, and his witty sayings are sure to please everybody.

Prof. Karl and his two trained dogs carried the house last night. The act is very amusing and the really wonderful tricks performed by the two dogs are astonishing.

Miss Grace Livingston, vocalist, is heard in new and pleasing illustrated songs. The photo-plays for the first three days of the week are well selected. The series includes one entitled "Jane Thorpe," a picture portraying a tale from English history of the 15th century, that's especially interesting. The others are equally good. The views also are those which have to do with recent day events, and are interesting. These views as well as the photo-plays, are changed semi-weekly.

The daily schedule for the presentation of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann's sketch in 3:10, 6:30 and 9:40 p.m. Supper hour matinees are becoming more popular each week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An invitation has been extended to all the M. T. L. Bachelor girls who took part in the big show on Sunday to witness this evening's performance at the Academy of Music. The show in itself is one that has never been excelled at this popular show house. This probably is due to one act entitled "The Actor and the Italian Lovers," which makes a whirlwind line and has the audience in roars. The balance of the performance consists of W. J. Miles, a character change artist and Dan & Brandon, a very clever team of singers and dancers. By special request the feature is "The Servants' Song," a story of the time of the Civil War, showing views of Abraham Lincoln, which are exceedingly true to life.

Good music, Oakland Campers, Thursday eve.

Harry Thaw to Make Another Effort to Gain His Freedom

HARRY K. THAW
COPYRIGHT 1912 AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 29.—Harry K. Thaw, the young millionaire who killed Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden in June, 1906, is making another effort to gain his freedom from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, to which he was committed after a jury had acquitted him of the charge of murder on the ground that he was insane. The writ of habeas corpus that his mother obtained for him will come up Monday, May 6, before Justice Keogh in this city. This is the third effort that Thaw has made to prove that he is sane, and if it fails he is destined to spend many more years in the Matteawan asylum. Thaw was in court Saturday in order for the date to be set for the hearing. His hair has grown a trifle gray since he has been in the asylum, but his general health is improved. He weighs 185 pounds, and most of it is muscle, as he is in good physical condition. After the brief court proceedings he was returned to Matteawan. It is likely that he will be transferred to the Bloomington asylum while the hearing is here, as that institution is within a short distance of White Plains, and the court proceedings may last several days.

Save Your Animal!

DR. DANIELS TELLS YOU HOW

Newspaper Distribution of His Books

Dr. A. C. Daniels, the greatest veterinary doctor of the age, has written four wonderful books on the care of the domestic animal. Every family and every person who owns a horse, cow, dog, cat or other domestic animal should secure and carefully read these valuable books.

The information given in these books comes from a lifetime of veterinary practice, wherein thousands and thousands of animals have been examined, treated and restored to health and activity.

The information in these books will enable you to keep your live stock in the best of condition and oftentimes save their lives.

The books explain in simple, clear and easily understood language all about the various animal diseases, giving symptoms so you can tell what is the matter, and explaining the method of treatment to restore the animal to health.

The books are indexed in such a way that you can quickly find the exact information that you need.

The book on the horse treats on more than three hundred different subjects regarding the horse. His diseases, treatment and emergency treatment in case of accidents, and is profusely illustrated with more than one hundred valuable plates.

The book on the dog contains all the information that any dog owner needs to keep his animal in the best of condition and to look after him properly in the case of sickness.

The book on the cow, sheep and swine is a book full of valuable information. It should be in the hands of every owner of cattle, sheep and swine. Healthy cattle are an asset, sick cattle are an expense.

The information in this book will enable you to keep your stock in good condition and restore sick stock to good health.

The book on the dog and the book on the cat will teach you how to keep your pets in the best of condition and will give you much valuable and interesting information about them.

The regular price of the horse book is $2.00, the dog book $1.50, the cow, sheep and swine book $1.50, and the cat book $1.00.

So that the total regular price of these books is $1.25.

First Place Won by the Teams
of Company K

The athletic tournament of the Lowell Armory association came to a close last night and the winners were announced. The association will now purchase prizes and trophies and present them to the winners. The association is composed of teams from companies K, G, H, I, J, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z, and all have shown good work during the present tournament.

The first prize for general excellence goes to Co. K, who got 141 points and lost only 30. The latter team came out on top in the shooting and the bowling, but fell to third place in the basketball. Capt. James N. Greig took the high position in the bowling and Sergt. Schuyler Waller came out first in the shooting. The third and fifth places in the shooting go to Private Krough and Private Gaultier, respectively.

For general honors Co. G is a close second with a good lead in the basketball. Company C got second place

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—It is remarkable how one ball player can bring around a big change in a major league team, especially if he is a star. This has been demonstrated more than once, but perhaps never as forcibly than with the St. Louis American this season. For two years the Browns played listless ball and wound up in the last place. This spring it was predicted that they would again fall heir to the ignominious honor of cellar champions, but these critics failed to note that

George Stovall, when the Browns obtained from Cleveland last winter, would make his presence felt on the team. He has certainly worked wonders with his fellows. The Browns from a quiet aggregation of pill chasers have developed into one of the scrappiest in the league. They fight from start to finish, and much of the credit belongs to "Stovey." He is setting the pace for his teammates. Not alone is he playing a brilliant game at first, but is batting better than he ever did. His glacially playing has awakened the other members of the team. Another new engine for the Browns, so different from last season, is that there are daily meetings among Stovall, Manager Wallace and Pitcher Powell before the game, during and after. Weak spots are pointed out, changes are suggested and everything done to make the St. Louis a first division club. Picture shows the trio chatting during a recent game.

HAVERHILL, April 30.—Lowell batted Haverhill's two pitchers hard yesterday, and profited by the home team's errors, piling up a 15 to 3 victory. Wolfgang struck out 10 men and kept Haverhill's hits well scattered except in the third inning. A one-handed catch by Rising near the fence was a feature. The score:

Meldon Wolfgang, Lowell's star pitcher, who was the leading star artist in the New England league, pitched his first league game of the season yesterday. Last season he won 27 games and lost 5. He went to the St. Louis American, but as they have a wonderful pitching staff there was no room for Wolfgang. The truth of the story of Wolfgang with the cellar champions of the American league is that the star New England leaguer did not get a

JIMMY GARDNER

Fights at Denver, Colo.,
Tomorrow

Reports from Denver, Colo., say that Jimmy Gardner of Lowell is in great condition for his fight in that city tomorrow night. Jimmy has been training with Joe Thomas and has put

JIMMY GARDNER

In a lot of work for the boat. He is confident that he will put his man away before the limit is reached. He is to meet Howard Baker, who is the holder of the middleweight championship of the middle west. The latter has trained hard and he too expects to win.

Gardner Brocks, of this city, who is one of the cleverest little boxers who was ever seen in action in this city, is now enjoying a much needed rest. He has, since entering the game been very busy, appearing weekly. He has won very hard and he has participated in the first three days of last week with "Chuck" Brocks did a stint at the Academy of Music. His last fight with Young Donnelly was the most strenuous of his career. He won but had to fight hard to do so, as his opponent had about 8 pounds advantage on him.

COMPANY K WON
CAPTURED FIRST PLACE IN THE
RIFLE SHOOT

The Company K rifle team, for the third consecutive time, won the shoot at the Dracut range yesterday afternoon, with a score of 285. Mountain of the winning company got the high total with 61.

WRESTLING BOUTS

Were Won by Zbyszko
and Burns

BOSTON, April 30.—Leflore Burns and Zbyszko were the winners in the two finish catch-as-catch can wrestling matches at the Grand Opera House last night. The former defeated Yankel Rogers of Buffalo in two straight falls, and Zbyszko scored the same kind of a victory over Jess Westergard of Des Moines. There was a large audience and the contests provided a lot of action.

Rogers had some weight on Burns and the strength he displayed at times gave the crowd the idea that he would prove a tough customer. In the first half hour both had many locks on each other and a fall was looked for at any moment. Rogers tried a body scissor to get a fall, but Burns quickly turned him on his side. Then getting a head scissor and further armlock, he gradually forced Rogers' shoulders to the mat, winning the first fall in 31a. 45s.

After five minutes' rest the pair resumed the struggle. Both worked fast and gave a fine exhibition. Rogers appeared tired from the struggle he had in the first session and it was only through a hard effort that he got away from dangerous holds. Finally he resorted again to the same lock that cost him the first fall and it proved again a bad one for him. Burns secured the same head scissor and arm lock and at the end of 13a. 20s. he was declared the winner of the second fall and match.

Zbyszko and Westergard each weighed close to 225 pounds and were in fine shape. Westergard is a finely built man and has considerable power. Zbyszko was as lively as a lightweight on his feet and whenever he was caught in a bad hold he displayed his knowledge of the game by breaking away in a clever manner.

A number of times in the first session the pair had each other close to a fall, but they got out of danger. Zbyszko finally secured a body scissor hold on the westerner and, employing all his strength, he forced Westergard's shoulders to the mat, winning the first fall in 33m. 25s.

After the usual rest, they returned to the mat with Zbyszko looking the fresher. After Westergard had wriggled out of a few holds Zbyszko landed the westerner on his back with the flying mare. Before he could get away Zbyszko forced Westergard's shoulders to the mat, winning the second fall and match in 7m. 55s. George Treney was referee and Billy Leclair held the watch.

WASHINGTON PARK

To be Used by the Y. M. C. A.

A special meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. temporary rooms in the Buel's building last evening. E. A. Bowen presiding.

It was announced at the meeting that the association will have the use of Washington park during the summer months, to be used as a baseball field and for other athletic events.

There were musical numbers by William Wilson and Russell Fox as an opener and then the members took up a general discussion of the proposition of hiring Washington park during the coming summer months. President Bowen talked at some length and he was followed by A. J. Wicke who spoke on "Activities on the Field." R. E. Gault spoke on "Baseball" and W. J. Wilson, Theodore Pearson, and others talked on the general subject of athletics.

The question of revenues was talked over at considerable length and plans devised which it is hoped will meet the expenses which will come.

At the close of the meeting the board of directors met and voted to accept the recommendations of the body and arrangements made for the immediate use of the park by the boys. The schedule provides for the opening of the park from the present to Oct. 1, excepting May 30, July 4, Labor day and Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons until 6 o'clock, when the Lowell high school team will have use of the grounds until the close of the season.

FLYNN AND CLANCY

Will Meet Again Thursday Night

The week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club will be held on Thursday evening in Matthew hall. A fine program has been arranged for the meeting. The main bout will undoubtedly be one of the best of the season. It will be furnished by Eddy Flynn of Lynn and Young Clancy of Boston, who gave such a lively exhibition at last week's meeting. The bout at the last meeting lasted five rounds and during that time the members were given one of the fastest bouts that was ever staged here. The sets came to an abrupt ending when one of Flynn's seconds violated the boxing rules by stepping into the ring. Clancy was declared the winner. The members were anxious to see the pair at it again and both men are confident of winning. They are looking hard for the bout and report that they are in the best of condition. The bout that will show Young Stone of Lowell and Chester Bernard of Lynn. The former is well known to the members as he has put up some of the best bouts of season. Bernard will be remembered as the boy who met Young Boyle at the club two weeks ago and gave such a creditable exhibition. This is scheduled for 8 p. m. The preliminaries will be of six rounds each. In the first Young Snoddy of Clevelea will clash with Tommy Doyle of the city. Both are fast boys and should give a good exhibition. The other preliminaries will introduce Young Leclair of Beavertown and Terry O'Rourke of Lawrence. These two met at the club last week and furnished great sport for the members. They are great busters and were hard at it all the time. The first bout will start at 8.15 o'clock and Billy Gardner will referee.

Cong. Berger Tells Socialists

He Will Retain His Office

MAYOR LUNN, EX-MAYOR SEIDEL, CONGRESSMAN BERGER

NEW YORK, April 30.—Congressman Victor J. Berger of Milwaukee has no doubt that he will be returned to congress by his constituents. He made this statement at a mass meeting in the Hippodrome called to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the Daily Forward, a socialist newspaper. Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady and Emil Seidel, former mayor of Milwaukee, both socialists, were other speakers. In his telling about his future plans Congressman Berger said: "I intend to go back to congress. The labor class wants me there and I like my job. Moreover, for the first time in my life I am getting decent wages. I don't manage to keep any of it, but I get it, and that's something. I promise you to be elected again and to take a companion back with me. I expect you to send at least one from New York. I am looking for one from North Dakota and two or three from Ohio. I expect that the party will poll 2,000,000 votes and that there will be twelve or fifteen socialist congressmen."

the cotton was spun, woven and finished all under one roof. He also established the supervision of the corporation by the treasurer. For these and other reasons he is entitled to be considered the father of American cotton manufacturing as an industry. Previous to his time it had occupied the position of merely a domestic handicraft. With Patrick Jackson he invented the American power loom, for which a patent was granted by the United States, Feb. 23, 1815.

MONTHLY REUNION

Was Held at St. Joseph's
College

A very interesting entertainment was given yesterday afternoon by the pupils of St. Joseph's college, the affair being the monthly reunion. The attendance was very large as many of the parents of the young boys were present.

The program rendered was as follows:

"Avalanche," galop, college orchestra; "Recollections," violin solo, second violin division; compositions of the seventh and eighth classes; "Prière de l'Enfant," romance, Lillian Miller; "Hearts and Flowers," violin solo, first violin division; compositions, fifth and sixth classes; "The Camel's Nose," recitation, group of pupils of seventh class; "Zouaves," violin solo, by the second violin division; "The Boy and the Boat," recitation, Frederick Leclerc; compositions, third and fourth classes; "Simple, Aven," violin solo, Leo McNeureux; "Polka de Gourmandise," Emile Daigle, Gustave Normandin, Louis Bailey and Irene Loranger; compositions of first and second classes; "Pine," pantomime, A. Lemieux, E. Lemire, E. Lambert, E. Heuvels, R. Ruzer and L. Giroux, all of the first class; "Le Regiment," chorists in two parts; reading of the names on the roll of honor for the month; "Our Fathers," march, college orchestra.

Previous to the last number of the program, there were brief remarks by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Fr. Wattle, O. M. I., in which he complimented the boys on their splendid work, both in the line of school duties and on the general excellence of the program, also urging them to continue along the same line.

The members of the orchestra are: Director and cornet, Brother Gonzalvus; violins, D. Gifford, Leo McNeureux, Ernest Houtouous, Wilmer Ricard, Patrice, Leo Lesieur, drums, Leo Mongeau; first division violins: Henri Grenier, Ernest Mercier, Omer Lincoeur, Andre Gagnon, Arthur Lemire, Donat Dubois, Henri Genest, Thomas Chouinard, George Langlois. Second division violins: Eddie Doucet, Roland Boudreau, Rodrigue Thibodeaux, Alfred Desrosier, William Boudreau, Wilfred Blouin, Philippe Moyn, Abia Gauthier and Arthur Bergeron.

DR. THOS. W. FLOOD

Takes Lowell Girl For His Bride

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday at 4 o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Columba's church when Miss Mary Madeline Threasa Hickson, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hickson, the former the well known wagon officer of the Lowell police department, and Dr. Thomas Walter Flood, whose home is in Nashua, N. H., but who is practicing in Haverhill, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Degan, pastor of the church. The bridegroom was Dr. William B. Kenny, of Pawtucket, R. I. The bride was becomingly attired in a dress of pink, made of the fabric of the lamour of free, that was presented to the bride by an army officer in the Philippines and was woven by the natives of the island.

It is of the same material as the gown worn by Miss Alice Roosevelt, when the latter was married to Congressman Longworth. She also wore a large pink picture hat with shippers to match. She carried a bouquet. The bridegroom's gown was of blue messaline. She wore a large picture hat and carried a bouquet. After the ceremony a reception to immediate relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride, 60 Mammoth road. Mr. and Mrs. Flood left in an auto for Woburn, where they will visit Rev. Joseph Keegan, at the St. Charles rectory, who married the bride's parents. They will then go to Boston for lunch, after which the happy couple will take a trip to Washington, New York and Columbus, Ohio. They plan to be gone about three weeks. Upon their return they will reside at 39 Kenzoa avenue, Haverhill, Mass.

STATE AUDITORS

Of F. of A. to Visit This City, May 13

The arrangements for the annual convention of the Grand Court Foresters of America to be opened in North Adams on May 21 are practically completed. The preliminary arrangements were announced in these columns some time ago and with the exception of a few changes are the same. The convention will occupy three days, starting the 21st and continuing to the 23rd inclusive. The Lowell delegates have all been chosen and will go from this city. There will be 415 delegates and the officers present at the session. Up to the present time there is no opposition to the re-election of Grand Secretary William H. Stafford of Lowell. George E. Jaynes of Newtonville is the only candidate for the office of grand chief ranger.

The Lowell delegates will leave this city on the evening train of May 20. They will go by the way of Ayer. They will leave on the regular train.

On May 13 the state auditors and the board of trustees of the grand court will visit Lowell. The auditors will call on Grand Secretary Stafford and audit his books, while the trustees will take account of stock and make general inspection. This is done annually and Mr. Stafford is very busy getting things in readiness for the visit.

WOMEN SHOULD

Operations. How Mrs. Bethune
and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered every thing."

I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I read so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."

HENRY F. CARR

OPPOSED TO STRINGING WIRES
THROUGH BRANCHES OF TREES

The park commission has decided to remove decayed trees just so long as the appropriation will stand the expense.

Commissioner Carr says that at the next meeting of the commission he will take steps to have a stop put to the practice of the Telephone and Telegraph Co. hanging wires on these trees, on which to string their wires. He says trees are destroyed and it is not right, he claims, to allow these companies this privilege.

FUNERALS

DOZOIS.—The funeral of the late Hildre Dozois took place yesterday from his late home, 542 Moody street and was largely attended. The cortege wound its way to St. Joseph's church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 2 o'clock by Rev. Julien Racette, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Antoine Anquet, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. The choir, augmented by several members of the other churches choir, was under the direction of Mr. Frank Goudeau, Mr. Joseph A. Bernard presiding at the organ. At the offertory Miss Eva Lussier sang Leybach's "Pie Jesu" and at the communion Dr. George E. Calise rendered Rosewicz's "O Meritum Passionis." The solos of the mass were sustained by Messrs. Frank Goudeau, Telephone Male, Paul Goudeau and E. J. Laroche. The bearers were Alexandre, Narcisse, Telephone, Hector and Arsene Dozois and Gaille Gill. The delegation from the Pawtucketville Social club of which deceased was a member was as follows: Joseph Harvey, Armand Skerit, H. W. Allard and Rodolphe Descheneux. L'Union St. Joseph was represented by the following: J. P. Marchand, O. L. Nadeau, J. J. Cinq-Mars and J. S. Lapierre. Among the many flowers were: Large wreath, Club La Matinee; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Manseau; spray, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Collins; cluster of flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delorme. Among the out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Dozois of Westboro, Mr. Raoul Dozois of Westboro, Mr. and Mrs. Telephone Dozois and Mr. Arsene Dozois of Manchester. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I., officiating at the grave. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Amodee Archambault.

ROBILLARD.—The funeral of Arthur G. Robillard took place yesterday from the home of his parents, 118 Corsey street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock at Notre Dame des Larmes church by Rev. J. B. Barrette, O. M. I. The choir was under the direction of Mr. H. M. Bouchet with Miss Helen Alexander at the organ. The bearers were William Sweeney, George Doyne, Alvin Ayer, Carl Wallace, Henri Gaudette and Charles Robillard. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., reciting the committal prayers at the grave. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

PETER MOONEY

A FORMER LOWELL MAN WAS FOUND DEAD

Peter Mooney, a former resident of this city, aged between 50 and 60 years, was found dead in a lodging-house in Peabody yesterday. Mooney, who was a leatherworker by trade, was a former resident of this city, where he was employed at the American Hide and Leather Co.

It is said he has a sister and other relatives in this city and if so, the Peabody police would like to hear from them so as to know how to dispose of the body. This bit of news was telephoned the local police this morning by the chief of police of Peabody.

THE POLICE OF PARIS
Have Declared War Against the
Anarchists

PARIS, April 29.—Relentless war against the anarchists in France is to be one result of the operations of the Bonnot band of automobile brigands, two of whose leaders were killed yesterday at Choisy-le-Roi, near Paris, after a desperate battle with police and soldiers. The police department is amazed at the recent discovery of the large number of anarchists who have taken refuge in Paris from all the countries of Europe. These will not be arrested and driven from France as enemies of society. The funeral of Assistant Supt. THE SCHOOL BOARD
Will Hold Regular Meeting
Tonight

Some time ago the school board voted to ask the opinion of the city solicitor relative to the election of a superintendent of schools and the opinion will be read at the regular meeting of the school board to be held tonight. The city solicitor, it is stated, is of the opinion that Supt. Whitcomb, under the new charter, has the right to serve until the expiration of his term.

Camp Fire Girls

Supt. Whitcomb is in receipt of a communication from the chairman of the Camp Fire Girls of America, an organization for girls incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia last month. The aim of the organization is to apply the power of organization to the promotion of such activities for girls as will most effectively make for physical vitality, personal efficiency, and spiritual and intellectual vigor as well as to preserve the largest possible amount of beauty, inspiration, and romance in their daily lives. The organization is non-sectarian; it is not charitable. It is planned for girls of all ages and in all places. The gathering place may be the out-of-door camp fire, an open fire in the town, or even about a candle in the city home, or the school house. No dues are required by national headquarters. The matter of local fees is optional with each individual group. All communications should be addressed to the executive secretary, Miss Gerda Scholten, at the national headquarters, 113 East 28th street, New York city.

MATRIMONIAL

One of the prettiest of the April weddings was celebrated Monday, April 29th at 1 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Ricks, 297 Middlesex street, when Mr. Irving De Valt of 16 Robison street, Lowell and Miss Anna Bucknell of Cambridge were united in marriage by Rev. George Keagott. The bride was handsomely gowned in white crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. DeValt left immediately after the ceremony for an extended tour through New York and will be at home to their many friends after Sept. 1, 1912.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Woman Was Attacked by a Would-be Tenant

NEW YORK, April 29.—A short, stocky man who had twice told Mrs. Anna Missett last week that he was desirous of renting the second floor of her house, 61 East Thirty-second street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock rang the door bell and said that he wished to measure the rooms of the floor that was vacant.

Mrs. Missett asked him why he wanted to see the size of the rooms since he had been there before, and the man answered that he wanted to make arrangements for the purchase of carpets and rugs. Thereupon Mrs. Missett accompanied the man to the second floor and saw him take out a tape measure and put down in a book the length and breadth of each room.

When he had finished Mrs. Missett went to the stairway and started to go down, the man following her. She had reached the middle of the flight of stairs when the man struck her a terrific blow with a blunt weapon, stunning her for the instant. Mrs. Missett fell headlong down the stairway, and a second afterward she saw the man, his face changed intensely from the expression when she caught sight of him.

"I want some money," he said. Mrs. Missett says she was too dazed to even answer him, and the man then brutally pulled her shirt from her shoulders and began to tear it into strips.

Still Mrs. Missett was too alarmed to make any outcry and she was pulled up from the floor and dragged to one of the rooms. There the man tied one of the shirt strips around her face, stuffing one of the strips into her mouth. The woman could not move her tongue. With the other strips of the shirt the man bound the woman's ankles and her arms.

"I want money and I'm going to get it," the man said, flaring at his victim. Mrs. Missett declared that the man looked at her as if he suddenly had gone mad.

Mrs. Missett says the man pulled open several drawers and then stood over her grinning. He had found nothing worth taking in his search. The man then made Mrs. Missett stand up and told her he was going to search her to get the money.

Without any further warning he then tore the woman's waist off her and then tossed the torn parts of the garment into a fireplace. Mrs. Missett said she could make no outcry and felt as if she were only partly conscious, as the man then pulled her skirt off, and finally when she was almost disrobed discovered $12 which the woman had concealed in her corsage. The man then made his escape.

The man then made his escape.

Without any further warning he then tore the woman's waist off her and then tossed the torn parts of the garment into a fireplace. Mrs. Missett said she could make no outcry and felt as if she were only partly conscious, as the man then pulled her skirt off, and finally when she was almost disrobed discovered $12 which the woman had concealed in her corsage. The man then made his escape.

BRISK BUSINESS

Being Done by the Local Auto Dealers

The local automobile dealers have been doing a good business during the past week and about a score of cars have been sold. In some instances the purchasers of cars do not sanction the use of their name until the cars are delivered while in other cases the purchasers do not object. The repair business has also been very good and cars which have been used by local people during the past season are being overhauled and painted or minor repairs being made on them.

The Popular Buick
Mr. Fred F. Hayward has purchased a model 35 Buick touring car through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation. The machine was delivered to Mr. Hayward during the past week. A model 21 Buick touring car was also delivered to Joseph Goodman. Mr. Charles H. Robbins is enjoying rides in his model 35 Buick which was recently delivered to him.

Mr. James Evans has purchased a model 35 touring car and Mr. R. P. Chapman has bought a model 23 Buick.

Many Ford Cars Sold
Dr. Forster H. Smith, the city physician, has purchased a Ford touring car. The doctor has used a Ford before and he secured such good results with the car that naturally he purchased another.

Undertaker Joseph Albert is the possessor of a Ford touring car, which is a beauty.

Mr. B. F. Wilcox has purchased a Ford car with a torpedo body through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart.

International Truck
International trucks are the talk of the town at the present time. Ervin E. Smith company, 45, 47 and 49 Market street have already sold trucks to Mr. Alex. Crulshank, the caterer, Fred W. Park driver, the artesian wells, R. A. Davis, wholesale paper dealer, the Standard Bottling company, and H. G. Warts company of Billerica centre. This truck is certainly giving excellent satisfaction and there is nothing equal to it for its capacity and the price. They are made in six models both water and air cooled. The Boston style pattern is a pattern that seems to be the most popular one. This model comes with three different styles of bodies, a stake body, a rack body and a body with flaring sides. Up to the present time it has been a question of getting these trucks fast enough to fill orders, the company is now guaranteeing delivery within two weeks.

Telephone Co. Buys Auto Cycles
The New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. has purchased three twin cylinder Excelsior auto-cycles, to be used in the cable department on trouble work. The machines were sold by Mark J. McCann, local agent, and certainly speak well for the Excelsior, as this company previously used another prominent make.

The following persons ordered Excelsior auto-cycles during the past week: Mr. Henry W. Livingston, Billerica Centre, model 6T; Mr. Frederick J. Osgood, model 4B; Mr. Clyde W. Gray, model 6T; Mr. Edward Osterman, model 6T; Mr. Paul Gray, model 6T; Mr. Samuel Doherty, model 6T. The Excelsior factory is turning out 100 machines a day and can make deliveries on all models.

The Stevens-Duryea
Mr. George R. Dana, representing the Stevens-Duryea cars, reports business as having been very satisfactory and prospects bright as regards the sale of cars. Mr. Dana now has on his floor two Stevens-Duryea cars ready for delivery, both A. A. 6 cylinder chassis, one having an English purple like 6-passenger touring body, the other a golden brown 6-passenger torpedo body and a perfect beauty.

Mr. Dana reports his general garage business as good and is looking for a most satisfactory season.

New Auto Chemical
One of the latest creations in automobiles is the Nichelet auto chemical for which the Lowell Automobile corporation has the agency. This machine is compact, complete and competent and in the different cities where they have been used they have given satisfaction. The machine is built along the lines of runabout with extinguishers on the sides. In the rear there is a basket with 100 feet of hose and a halogen 35 gallon tank with 300 pounds pressure.

That natty yellow car with the black trimmings which you have noticed on the street lately, is not a new make of car which has come to town, as you may have thought, but it is the old go by imagined but the "made over" car of Harry Pitts, proprietor of the Pitts Auto Supply in Lund street. Harry never did believe in doing things by halves, and that, no doubt, is why the car presents such a finished appearance.

HER NECK BROKEN
Woman Found Dying in the Street

BOSTON, April 30.—Mrs. Celia Gale, 25 years of age, was found in a night robe, dying on Yarmouth street, at midnight this morning and died a few minutes later at the City hospital from a broken neck.

Mystery surrounds her death. She was discovered on the sidewalk in front of No. 8 Yarmouth street, and as near as could be learned from Mrs. Mary Haley, the landlady of the lodging house at that number she had roomed there since February.

The police were first notified of the affair by John Hickey of 98 Chandler street. He phoned to the police. The woman was hurried to the hospital, where she died almost at the moment she was carried into the institution.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? THE TOURING CLUB

NOTHING BUT THE SPEED

BEHIND THE CAR

The naming of a car is often as much of a problem as selecting a John-William-Henry for a pair of newlywed's first home. And once a really good name is hit on, the chances are it will go down in gasoline history in indelible ink.

Recent car names are usually suggested by some striking characteristic of the car itself. The Marmon Wasp got its name from its long slender lines. The name "Yellow Jacket" would have been even better because of the color, but at that "Wasp" went very nicely, and has become a byword. The old Chrysler "Blue Bird" got its name from its color. The "Blitzen Benz" was called Blitzen because it showed lightning speed in its first work out.

The White Steamer, driven by Webb Jay, in the old dirt track days, won its name "Whistling Billy" from the peculiar noise made by its thermostat. Barney Oldfield's "Red Devil" got its name from its color, and the three-day race at the wheel, 50 on down through the state of Ohio, one finds a picturesque nomenclature.

The coming five hundred mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30th, will produce the regular list of new nicknames. The Continental entry will be known as "The Shark," getting its name from a peculiar tail fin which it carried for balance.

TRUANT SCHOOL

CLAIM THAT NEW RULE WORKED INJUSTICE TO THE BOYS

The following communication relative to the North Chelmsford Truant school is received.

Dear Sir:—I wish to call your attention to the treatment of the boys at North Chelmsford Truant school. Before the present superintendent took charge a boy could get released by securing 4,000 merits in one year. He could earn 400 a month by good conduct. A large number of boys had secured the merits required for release but the new superintendent changed the rule, took their merits standing away and made 9000 merits the number to secure release. He gave each boy 1000 to begin with for each year the boy had been in the institution, but the injustice of the new rule lay in depriving the boys of the freedom they had earned under the regular rules of the institution. This was unjust and it must have impressed the boys as something in the nature of an outrage. The new rule will add at least five months to the length of time the boys are to be detained in the school. Another rule forbidding boys to speak to each other during working hours, or on the way to or from church on Sundays is very trying on the boys. It is also very hard to forbid the parents or friends of boys not to bring them candy, fruit or anything of that kind on visiting days.

The superintendent, I understand, has the power to keep a boy in the institution until he reaches the age of 16 years; but it does seem that there is no need of such stringent rules and above all no justification for breaking faith with the boys who earned their release and were then deprived of the reward of their year's merit.

Thanking you for your space, Very truly yours, Parent.

SOME PRESSING SCHOOL PROBLEMS

One of the problems that should receive the attention of the superintendent of schools at the present time is that of providing the best possible educational equipment for the boy or girl who has to leave school at the age of fourteen. It is safe to say that a large proportion of such pupils have to leave the grammar school before reaching the final grade. That is a serious misfortune, as by so doing the important work of the ninth year is missed.

The last school report issued states that the average age of the pupils entering the high school is fourteen years and ten months. That is practically a year over the age at which many pupils have to leave school in order to go to work. It is plain, therefore, that these leave school on or before reaching the end of the eighth grade. The pupils of this grade have but a very limited knowledge of arithmetic while their knowledge of grammar is exceedingly rudimentary.

For a nine years' course from the lowest primary to the highest grammar grade the results attained in some of the schools are very disappointing. Yet it appears that a great many pupils have to spend more than nine years in order to graduate from the grammar schools. This should not be the case and it would not be so if the grading was what it ought to be. But with the lock-step annual promotions and the number thrown back to repeat the work of a whole year, it is no wonder that general progress and efficiency are sacrificed to uniformity which holds back the bright pupils by causing them to wait for the dull or backward. Both are injured, one by being held back, the other by being pushed on faster than he can go only to be pushed back again to the starting point of the year's work. This putting a pupil back to go over the work a second time is an admission that he was not properly graded in the previous year; but where promotions come but once a year this is inevitable, for, as the class starts like a military company on march, all have to keep step until the end of the course. Then if any has been carried along beyond his speed the remedy is to "repeat." If the boy dislikes this he rebels, refuses to go to school and is sent to the truant school.

Something should be done to remedy this evil that has sent so many children to the truant school from which, by the way, it is difficult to get them out before they reach the age of sixteen years. What is imperatively needed by our schools then is first, such a revision of the course of study as will give the boy leaving school at fourteen better equipment than he receives at present; and, second, a system of grading and promotions that will have due regard for the pupil's individuality and allow all pupils to advance as fast as they are able and thus break up the chain gang system of promotions.

The course of study is behind the times. The grammar school pupils should have a little geometry as well as algebra, and they should be better grounded in arithmetic and composition.

Manual training should be taught in the two highest grades of the grammar school, but we cannot expect the city to go to that expense until something is done to improve the handwriting which is in a demoralized condition.

The schools of Lowell are behind those of other progressive cities in many ways, and the people are not getting their money's worth in education. The chief question that has engaged the attention in the past is who should fill the places rather than the attainment of the highest educational results.

The teachers of Lowell compare favorably with those of most other cities and are willing to work towards any goal set before them, but the proper directive force has been lacking for a considerable time.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

Those who heard President Taft speak at the Opera House yesterday could not help sympathizing with him for two reasons: First, because he, as president of the United States, had to appear to defend himself against false charges and misrepresentations by the ex-president; and, second, because he was so hoarse that he could talk only under great physical strain and at the risk of serious injury to his health. As between the two rival candidates, Taft and Roosevelt, the former is a safe and conservative executive, one who can be relied upon to work honestly for the best interests of the country. He stands for the protection of the courts, the only bulwark this nation has at the present time against socialism, populism and anarchy. Roosevelt has embraced almost every form of radicalism that has been suggested by the populists and socialists, and he has gone farther than all of them in his opposition to the supremacy of the courts. He favors the recall of judges and the submission of judicial decisions to the people for revision. With such dangerous doctrines he would lie in his element as associate leader of the I. W. W. with Haywood, Trautman & Co. He viciously assails Mr. Taft, but it is almost a certainty that were it not for Taft's diplomacy as secretary of state while Roosevelt was president, we should have had another war on our hands. It is quite probable also that had Roosevelt been president during the last four years we should have had a war with Mexico or possibly with Japan. The people who favor Roosevelt do not seem to realize what a dangerous character he is and what a menace he would be to the peace and prosperity of this nation if he were elected president for the next four years.

But of his election, we believe there is no danger as his nomination would ensure the election of the democratic candidate, which is what the country needs at the present time.

One thing certain in regard to Governor Wilson is that he can make as good a speech as any candidate in the field on either side and he talks sound Jeffersonian democracy at all times. In his official capacity as governor of New Jersey he put the same democratic principles in practice. That he is abused and vilified by Hearst only proves that he looks up as a strong candidate, a man who if nominated could be elected.

Lawson has it Roosevelt or revolution. He evidently thinks Roosevelt would do upset things that the curb brokers would be able to do some business.

SEEN AND HEARD

"The greatest life is never the one that of wondrous acts can boast. But the life that sweats some other life And supplies its needs the most."

AFTON WATER.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy

green braes,

Flow gently, I'll sing thee a song in thy praise;

My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring

stream—

Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not

her dream.

Thou stock-dove, whose echo resounds through the glen,

Ye whistling blackbirds in yon

thorny den,

Thou green-crested lapwing, thy screeching forbear—

I charge you, disturb not my slumbering fair.

How lofty, sweet Afton, thy neighboring hills!

Far mark with the courses of clear, winding rills!

There daily I wander as noon rises

high,

My flock and my Mary's sweet cot in my eye.

How pleasant thy banks and green

valleys below,

Where wild in the woodlands the princesses blow!

There oft mid evening sweeps over the lea,

The sweet-scented birch shades my

Mary and me,

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely

it glides,

And winds by the cot where my Mary rests;

How wondrous thy waters her snowy feet lave,

As gathering sweet flowers she stems

thy clear wave.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy

green braes,

Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays;

My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring

stream—

Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not

her dream.

—Robert Burns.

It is the sweetest touch of mortal life.

"There are two stones we may not dare to cast:

The stone of stumbling in our brother's way,

The stone of judgment at our brother's past.

We who ourselves like sheep have gone astray."

"You may not preach a great sermon, write a great song, or be a great hero,

but you may perform some little deed which will bless the world."

"Yesterday is dead; forget it; tomorrow does not exist—don't worry! today is here—use it."

"The world has no room for cowards.

We must all be ready somehow to suffer, to die. And your work is not the less noble because no drum beats before you when you go out into your daily battlefields, and no crowds shout about your coming when you return from your daily victory or defeat."

"Dull drudgery, gray mist of success,"

Enduring purpose, waiting long and long.

Headache or heartache, bent with sign of song.

Forever driving wild the strife and stress.

Within the bleak confines of your distress.

Are laid the firm foundations, deep and strong.

Whereon men build the right against the wrong.

The tall wrought monuments that lift and bless."

inconsistent. But it isn't. The adverising pages of a newspaper are open to all who care to buy space for the presentation of arguments to the readers—

either for business or politics—as long as the matter offered is fit to print.

That fact does not effect the paper's own position in the slightest. In the Republican's case it has afforded opportunity for the printing of some editorial free "reading notices" which the advertisers may not like, but that is the editor's privilege and one quite frequently exercised in campaigns of one kind or another. Some of the political advertising all over the state the past few weeks has been pretty poor stuff, but that's no reason why it should be excluded from the public press—beloved expression of the "hope and trust" style of politician.

SOME OF THE PEOPLE

Lawrence Telegram: Our very close friend, Tom Lawson, evidently believes that the portion of the people that can be fooled all of the time is a very large one.

He is once more taking them into his confidence and making pretence to them as confidently as ever he used to predict that old Trinity would go first to 60 then to 100, though to the flattening out of many a pocketbook that old mining stock persisted in slumping instead of rising and can now be had for 3 or 4 instead of 60 or 100.

So with his Amalgamated drives, the holyweather, as he would call it, of the stock market never would rise when he kept advising his followers to load up for a rise.

But he is an amusing and entertaining chap to all those who know enough to stay on the sidelines and watch him send his benders, his twisters, his in-shoots and outshoots and reverse curves over the plate to the complete befuddlement of the said portion of the public which persists in being the goat.

WILSON'S TRUMP CARD

Hartford Courant: Dr. Woodrow Wilson married his wife in Savannah—a bit of history which was not forgotten, you may be sure, in speech to the Savannah democrats recently. "When I went to the clerk of the court to get the marriage license," said the doctor, "and gave him the name of the young lady," that official took off his glasses and looked at me steadily for several moments, and then informed me that I was marrying into a very nice family. I responded that I knew it, but hoped that he did not deem me entirely unworthy of that honor." Before leaving Savannah, the Wilsons made a pilgrimage to the Presbyterian manse where the wedding occurred, and the church in which Dr. Axson, Mrs. Wilson's grandfather, preached for more than a generation. Whether the young lady gets the robes of Alabama's big neighbor away from Mr. Underwood, he played his trump card when he took his Georgia wife along with him on his campaigning expedition.

ONLY LODGE ON FENCE

Buffalo Times: The Massachusetts Gray is on.

Every republican but one in the state is lined up for the colored or the president.

And Henry Cabot Lodge is neutral. A friend of his, scarcely daring to breathe, he squeezes himself into the scant space between the bars, furnishing the most wonderful spectacle of the fence pose within the memory of living man.

It is a beautiful sight!

THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED

Providence Journal: A statement of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, covering its operations in March, says: "The increased volume of business was done only at heavy increased cost, but as the company's primary motive was a determination to satisfy its patrons, the management felt justified in going to every reasonable expense in accomplishing results." What an agreeable attitude, and how different from the traditional policy of a famous railroad magnate of an earlier era! "The public be pleased" might well be made the motto of every American transportation company, and printed copies could appropriately be posted where the eye of every officer and employee would encounter them each day.

A LONG ENGAGEMENT

That we know things better by test than mere theory was amply attested by the vigorous farewell accorded the Fannie Hatfield Stock company by the patrons of the Academy of Music at their final performance Saturday night. During their act the company was pre-called upon to object to this. There was no personal attack made on any one in my objection. Mr. Roosevelt found that this was not a widely popular proposition. He changed his views of the administration. He continued to do so in Illinois and Pennsylvania and it seemed I was destined to come to old Massachusetts to appeal to the fairness of its people. (Cheers.)

Government Belongs to All

In one of my speeches I pointed out Lincoln's definition of government. It is accurate for general purposes, but it needed modification. Lincoln said, "Government of the people, by the people and for the people." I said, of all, for all the people and by a representative part of the people. I pointed out at Toledo that the government belonged to all, and that it was intended to secure the rights of all and every one of the people. Men, women and children were to be included. Babies on the breast as well as the feeble said everything he could to influence people against me, and said that a vote for me was a vote for Lincoln. I said, "You are that fair."

"He's a liar," came back the voice again.

Going Beyond Facts

"I was on the bench for seven years," continued the president, "and my habits and my thoughts and my life have been more or less formed by the experience. There I learned to value the meaning of words, and I found that one of the most unwise things was to go beyond facts and state inferences. Therefore, I feel that Theodore Roosevelt should have known my position was other than he stated. And I prefer to leave the matter right there. (Great applause.)"

"The trouble with a great many men unused to discussion on a logical basis is that they can't get very far before they launch the tactics of other men. When they don't agree with his arguments, they only answer 'You're a liar.' I don't allow my distinguished opponent to furnish me with a vocabulary putting more useful legislation passed in three years than has been passed since the Civil war. Yet, for that, I am relegated to the ranks of the reactionaries. I cannot agree with that view."

"I was in conference with Mr. Roosevelt before taking office and he insisted that I should make an arrangement with Mr. Cannon to get the needed legislation passed. He believed that unless I made that arrangement I couldn't get the legislation through. Now do you think that a fair deal?"

Very Drastic Bill

"The railroad bill, which was the most drastic bill of its kind ever enacted, was passed. And yet Mr. Roosevelt says it was the progressives who passed it. We will see how they pass it. They were greatly in the minority and could not possibly have done so without help. I had to sign it, which I did. It seems that somewhere along the line I ought to get a little credit. (Cheers.)"

"Consider the interstate commerce amendments. One was that no company should obtain stock in any com-

Sept. Welch told them that time would not permit and that they would have to stand back. There were a few, however, who managed to shake hands with the nation's chief executive but they did it while the car was in motion and did not cause delay.

ident again expressed his appreciation of the reception tendered him and his parting words were that all he wanted was a square deal.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM H. TAFT

old persons constitute the people. But when it comes to government by a representative part of the people, I referred to those who conduct the government. Therefore the voters. The majority of those who vote are the representative part of the people. And so it is government by those representatives that I referred to. Doesn't that seem like two and two make four?"

"Didn't Mr. Roosevelt say, 'That shows where he is; now we've got him?' And didn't he say, 'By representative government he means government by the few, an aristocracy, an oligarchy?' He said his power altogether on one sentence."

Not On the Level

"I want to ask you again if that's on the level? Will you treat any man that way. My friend—my former friend—Mr. Roosevelt (cheers and laughter) has been appropriating the memory of Lincoln as peculiarly his own. He likes to liken himself to Lincoln. Now I ask you if Lincoln would have done that to any man, it mattered not how small or humble he might have been? What is it that makes the memory of Lincoln so dear to you all? It's a quality of fairness and justice to every man that shines through all of his utterances. Read that memorable debate with Douglas. What is it that stands out? It is fairness and justice. You can make a straw man and kick him over and I have been the straw man four enough. It is an easy thing to substitute your opponent's position, and then kick him over."

"That isn't in my vocabulary," came back the president. "In spite of your references I must desist from following up your suggestion. Mr. Roosevelt and I are not so different in our respect. We don't require a certificate of church membership from a man and we don't require that he be in good and regular standing with the Y. M. C. A. We accept every vote that comes to us providing such vote does not put us under any obligation that would in any way interfere with the proper performance of our duties."

His Friendliness Criticized

"I have been criticized by Mr. Roosevelt for my friendliness toward Senator Lorimer. This sentiment was contested on the ground of fraud. I observed that affairs were going along summarily and I was able to read a great deal of the evidence in the case and I believed it was a case which was not to be passed upon summarily. I asked my republican friends to see if Lorimer's vote was tainted and if it was, to impeach. I asked Mr. Roosevelt to stir one or two other senators to do something. The case went on and it ended in favor of Lorimer. It was followed by a re-hearing. And now Mr. Roosevelt says that Lorimer supports me. I don't know it, if he does, I haven't seen Senator Lorimer in two years. It left me when he knew how I stood. Roosevelt went to Illinois and

"Mr. Roosevelt has called me a reactionary. I was elected a republican by the republican party. I entered into an agreement with the people to pass a lot of legislation. It could not pass without a majority of the house and a majority of the senate. Now what I've had to do has been to induce that majority of each house to pass it. You are practical men and women—and we do not know how long before you women will have the ballots given to you."

Cannon and Aldrich

"Now I am accused of my associations with Cannon and with Aldrich because I tried with them to get that legislation passed. I am accused of helping company. Another was to allow the railroads to agree on rates for 30 days. And Mr. Roosevelt says these amendments so injured the anti-trust law as to defeat it. It may seem there was something in his argument if it were not known that Mr. Roosevelt had recommended these amendments himself and if they were not contained in the republican platform."

When it was made known to the president that his time was up, he said: 'I should like to speak to you an hour, but time will not permit me to do so.' Then he was hustled to the big stage door where a touring car was in waiting. Supt. Welch personally supervised the patrolling so that there was no delay. Hundreds wanted to shake hands with the president but

162 MARKET STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL PROPERTY AUCTION SALE

SATURDAY, MAY 11th, 1912, AT 2 P. M., AT NO. 18 UPLAND STREET, DRACUT NAVY YARD

I will sell at public auction, without limit or reserve, this very desirable country home. It consists of a cottage house and four acres of land, more or less, with barn and three large iron houses that will house 200 hens. This property is situated on Ireland street, where there are many houses built and owned by the people that occupy them and is so situated that it has two streets that are all laid out, extending to this land, so that any person desiring, could extend the streets and have building lots on each side of them. The land is high, good and within three minutes' walk of the Lakewood avenue car line from the end of Pleasant street.

For a person who wants a home that has every convenience of the country and still be within the 5-cent car fare, this offers you a grand opportunity. If you will take the time to look this property over, I am sure you will see its advantages and be interested in it. There is town water in the house.

Personal property consists of: One bay horse, one farm wagon, one express harness, bird house, small table, etc., kitchen range, parlor stove, beds and bedding, carpets, rugs, etc. Also 40 young laying hens and ten wire lot of ground land lumber.

Terms of sale: $200 in cash must be paid as a deposit on real estate. Personal property, cash. Other terms at sale.

For order JOHN O'BRIEN.

Consider the Cost of Labor

It is better to pay a reasonable price and be sure of what you are getting than to buy JOB LOT paint at a little lower price; for wherein is the economy of saving twenty-five cents on a gallon of paint and losing fifty in the application of it? There were about three hundred people at Spalding park this afternoon to witness the game between Lowell and Haverhill. Inasmuch as the weather was not very good the attendance was not as large as it should have been and the fact that Lowell trounced the life out of the Shoe City aggregation on their home grounds yesterday also counted for something.

The lineup of the teams was as follows:

Lowell
Nye, 2b
De Groff, rf
Conney, ss
Magee, lf
Bunting, cf
Bouttes, 2b
Miller, 1b
Lavigne, c
Maybom, p

First Inning
Neither side scored in the first inning. Clements was the first man to come to bat and he fled to Bouttes. Klett hit by Conney for a safe one. McGamwell traveled to first on a single to centre. Young also got on a single owing to the inability of Conney to gather in the ball. Cross hit to Bouttes and the latter threw Kelley out at the plate. Campbell fouled to Miller.

In the latter half of the inning Nye singled to right field and went to second on De Groff's sacrifice. Conney walked. Magee fled to Klett and Bunting was third out on a fly to Young. Score: Lowell 0, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning
Perkins fled to De Groff in the second and Bunting hit to Bouttes, who threw him out at first. Barry sent the ball into the left garden for a single but he died on the initial bag for when Clements hit to Nye, Barry was nullified at second.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Bouttes started out with a strikeout and Miller followed with a single to right field. Lavigne singled to left field. Maybom sent the ball into left field for a two-bagger scoring Miller and Lavigne. De Groff walked. Conney hit to Cross and the latter threw De Groff out at second. Score: Lowell 2, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning
There was nothing doing in the third inning. Klett hit to Conney, and died at first and McGamwell hit to Nye and met a similar "death." Young singled to centre but Cross went out on a grounder to Miller.

The home team scored four runs in the third inning. Magee beat out a bunt and Bunting hit to Cross and was safe at first. Bouttes slammed the ball into the centre garden for a two-bagger and Magee and Bunting scored. Miller got hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. Lavigne struck out and Maybom fled to Clements. Bouttes scoring on the put out. Nye doubled to left field and Miller scored. De Groff hit to Pratt who threw Nye out at the plate. Score: Lowell 6, Haverhill 0.

Fourth Inning
There was nothing doing in the fourth inning. Campbell singled.

through the pitcher and Perkins followed with a fly to Magee. Bunting hit to Bouttes and died at first and Barry fled to Magee.

We scored two more runs in the latter half of the fourth inning. Conney started off with a two-bagger to left field and Magee followed with a single to right field. Bouttes singled to left field and Magee scored. Miller hit to Barry and was out at first. Lavigne fled to Pratt and Maybom walked, but Nye fled to Clements.

Score—Lowell 8, Haverhill 0.

Fifth Inning
Haverhill broke the ice in the fifth inning and sent three men across the plate. Clements was the first man to handle the bat and although he hit to Magee he was safe at first. Klett singled to left. McGamwell fled to De Groff. Young then singled to left and Clements scored. Cross then sent the ball into the left garden and Klett scored. Campbell fled to De Groff.

Perkins nailed the ball to the right field for two bases and Young scored. Bunting was third out.

Lowell also scored three runs in the latter half of the inning. De Groff was the first man up and he walked to first and went to second on Conney's sacrifice. Magee hit to Young but was safe at first. Magee then stole second. Bunting hit to Young and De Groff scored. Rising stole second. Bouttes hit to Young and died at first. Magee scored. Miller made a double to left field and Rising scored. Lavigne hit to Young and was out at first.

In the latter half of this inning P. Barry was taken out of the box and J. Barry was substituted. Score—Lowell 11, Haverhill 3.

Sixth Inning
The first half of the sixth inning was short and sweet. Barry hit to Nye and never reached first. Clements hit to Bouttes and was out at first, while Klett hit to Bouttes and was the third out at first.

Magee hit a line drive to Cross. Nye hit to Klett the latter dropping the ball and the runner was safe. Nye, however, in trying to make second was thrown out. De Groff was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first and then stole second and went to third on a bad throw. Conney fled to Young. Score: Lowell 11, Haverhill 3.

Seventh Inning
In the seventh inning McGamwell fled to Miller. Young hit to Bouttes and was out at first and Cross fled to Conney, and was the third out.

Lowell scored four runs in the latter half of the seventh. Magee was the first man up and he walked. Rising sent the ball to left field for a double and Magee came home. Bouttes hit to Cross, who dropped the ball and he traveled to second. Miller hit to Barry and was out at first. Lavigne singled and Rising and Bouttes scored. Maybom hit to Cross and was safe at first. Nye hit to Young, who got out at the plate.

MAN IS MISSING

Mr. Constantineau Left Home This Morning

The police were notified this afternoon of the disappearance of Honore Constantineau, one of the oldest and best known residents of this city, who has not been seen since four o'clock this morning, at which time he left his home for his usual walk.

Mr. Constantineau, who is 81 years of age, makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Felix Vigeant, 180 Ford street. It is his habit to go for a walk every morning at about 4 o'clock, before breakfast. This morning he went at the usual time, but did not return. His daughter became anxious and notified the police. This afternoon the family received word from a Collinsville constable that the aged man had been seen walking on the Nashua road, and immediately his son, Dr. G. J. Constantineau, went in that direction in his automobile. However, at the time of going to press Mr. Constantineau had not been located.

It is feared the aged man may have encountered some mishap, as he is very feeble. Mr. Constantineau is a well known figure in this city where he has lived the biggest part of his life, and his family would be very pleased to receive any information that would lead to his whereabouts.

EARLY RETURNS

SLIGHT DAMAGE
CAUSED BY A FIRE THIS AFTERNOON

At 3:54 o'clock this afternoon a portion of the fire department was called to 11 Harrison street, where a fire was in progress in the property of Patrick Kelly.

An apartment in the building where a child died yesterday of contagious disease was being fumigated. The windows were opened and on one of the sills there was clothing which the wind blew into the dish containing the fire. An alarm was rung in from box 11, and the firemen were soon on the spot. The damage was slight.

BODIES OF VICTIMS

Of the Titanic Disaster Reached Halifax Today

HALIFAX, N. S., April 30.—One hundred and ninety bodies, among them those of Col. John Jacob Astor and leader Straus, were brought to Halifax today on the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, which has been searching for them over more than 30 square miles in the vicinity where the great White Star liner Titanic sank after striking an iceberg. G. B. Widener's body, although previously reported as recovered, was not among those recovered on the ship and her commander explained that a body, at first thought to have been that of

Mr. Widener, was buried as that of his valet.

All told, 205 dead were found and 116 were consigned again to the sea. Not one name of prominent persons missing was added to the list of recovered dead by the Mackay-Bennett's arrival.

Salvors worked four hours unloading, her and the dead were driven slowly up the hill to an improvised morgue in a curling rink, where relatives will have an opportunity to claim them. The cableship docked at 9:40 a. m.

and it was not until after one o'clock that the last of the coffins had been removed from her deck. Only a handful of the bereaved and their representatives came to the pier.

Massachusetts has its first presidential primaries today and while the early hours gave evidence of a continuance of the rain that drove President Taft under cover at the Opera House last evening, early in the forenoon the sun broke through the clouds and the weather clerk whistled a "fine day" tune.

The polls opened at 11 o'clock and the voting was fairly heavy during the noon hour and a big vote is anticipated all along the line. The heavy end of the vote will come this evening after the men have ceased their toiling for the day.

Lowell witnessed a most remarkable sight yesterday, that of the president and ex-president clamoring for votes and nothing but the most extraordinary situation would have brought the president into the state twice within a week to go on the stump and race about from place to place in a direct appeal to the people for support. As to how the president feels about it one can judge from the words spoken by him at the Opera House last evening.

It is possible that the primaries today will determine whether the ex-president of the United States will ever again campaign for nomination to the high office he has previously held. Whatever the decision the campaign will be written into Massachusetts political history as most spectacular.

In addition to the contest on the republican ticket there is the strong contest between the Clark and Wilson forces for endorsement in the primaries, but the feeling is not so bitter as between the Taft and Roosevelt forces.

Sending the Boxes Out
The work of preparing the ballot boxes and sending them out from the precinct at city hall is the same for the primaries as for the election and a police officer goes with every box.

Included with the papers and other things that go to the different polling booths is the check list by wards and precincts. It will be interesting to compare this list with the vote cast.

Features of Primary Law
The primary law provides that before getting a ballot a voter must declare his party preference and that the declaration may be made by any unenrolled voter when he goes to the polling place. No one enrolled at the state primaries last fall can change his enrollment, except by giving 90 days' notice.

Progressive democrats, by a bill put through the legislature last week, may enroll with either party. The polls in Lowell opened at 11 o'clock this forenoon and will close at 8 o'clock to-night.

In Boston, at Lynn and at Salem the voting will be done in the regular election day hours, from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m., and while the results from those cities will be known early there will be no chance to tell how the state is going to vote as close as it is expected, until late in the evening.

In some way or other a large number of voters as well as several precinct officers were under the impression that the automatic voting machines would be installed today, and the latter were rejoicing over the fact that the counting of the ballots would be an easy task, as the said machine counts as it goes along, like the cash registers. But this was not so, however, and although the machines were voted for at the last city election, they will not be put in force until the state primaries.

In precinct three of ward six, the first man to cast his vote was George P. Dow of 83 Lilley avenue, a staunch democrat. He was followed by a party who had not as yet declared himself, and when he was asked what ballot he wanted, he replied "any old thing as long as I can vote for Teddy Roosevelt." Another voter took his ballot and the time of opening it turned it into the machine and walked out, saying "Another vote for Clark."

There were many incidents similar to the above during the day, and according to the voting this afternoon, people who claim to be good on "doping" out the vote, say one-third of the Lowell voters will not do their duty today.

ACTIVE RECRUITING

For the United States Army to be Resumed

Sergt. Robert J. Carney and Private Horace L. Douglas, of the Lowell Recruiting station who left this city on April 26 to go to Boston to receive the typhoid prophylactic treatment to keep them immune from attacks of typhoid, have returned to this city and resumed work Monday at the local station in Middlesex street. Both report that the treatment is very difficult and that during the time that they were in Boston they suffered considerably from the effects of the injections. The Lowell men were among the last in the service to receive the treatment and now every man in the regular army has undergone the process of vaccination. It was a sweeping order issued in Washington and those in recruiting service were the last designated to take it. In the future injections will be given every time a man enlists in the army.

During the absence of Sergt. Carney and Private Douglas, the local office was in charge of Sergt. Charles G. Koch and he was assisted by Private Frank E. Chase. These men came from Boston, the former from the recruiting station at 312 Washington street and the latter from the main

THE PRESIDENT

Tells Lowell People That All He Wants is Square Deal

TAFT'S LAST WORDS TO LOWELL VOTERS

"No man has the right to misrepresent another to get himself up in office, no matter how humble that man is."

"Condemn me if you will, but condemn me by other witnesses than Theodore Roosevelt."

"I was a man of straw; but I have been a man of straw long enough. Every man who has blood in his body and who has been misrepresented as I have been is forced to fight. I appeal to my friends in Massachusetts, who, I think, believe in a square deal."

President William Howard Taft was given a rousing reception in this city last evening. The rain interfered somewhat with the program as originally planned and less than one-tenth of those who would have heard him had he spoken on the South common were privileged to hear him in the Opera House. Lowell was included in the president's sweep through the eastern section of the state; a sweep that developed into one of the greatest demonstrations over a candidate for office ever seen in the Bay State. The president expressed his intense gratification at the reception given him in Lowell and said it indicated that the people here believe in a square deal.

The President's Arrival

It was generally conceded that had the day been fine more than 20,000 people would have greeted the president at the depot, but instead of going to the depot the crowd rushed for the Opera House and joined in the great battle for seats. More rushed to the South common believing that the original plan would carry and they thought that by getting to the common early they would be able to get a position near the stand erected for the president. The crowd at the depot, however, was quite large enough for comfort and it was difficult for one in a hurry to pick one's way through the sea of umbrellas that pitched and tossed in a way that was dangerous to the eyes.

Even up to the last moment it was believed that the president would speak on the South common rather than at the Opera House and that was the intention of the president and his party when they left the depot in their automobiles, but plans were altered on the way and they went to the Opera House instead of to the common.

Growth Was Disappointed

The crowd on the South common would have filled five Opera Houses and there was great disappointment when the word was passed around that the president had gone to the Opera House. The stand erected on the common had been covered over and when that fact was noted it was thought that the president would surely speak there. Men, women and children scrambled for places near the stand and before they realized that the chief executive would not speak from the stand it was too late for them to stand even the ghost of a show at the Opera House and they felt very badly about

it. One little boy ran away from his mother declaring, with tears streaming down his cheeks, that he would see the president. "I want to shake hands with him," he said, and soon he was lost in the crowd.

Arrival at Opera House

The doors to the Opera House were closed when the president arrived. They had been closed at 5.30 o'clock in order to keep back the crowd and the streets were blocked when the president arrived. It was thought that the president would enter by way of the stage entrance but it was finally decided to have him enter at the main entrance. The police had a few busy moments but there was very little delay and the first intimation that those in the theatre had of the president's presence was when some one shouted "he's here." The president was half way down the aisle at that time and following the words "he's here" came a mighty cheer and the applause was continued until the president had reached the platform. He shook hands with as many as he could on the way and the band that had done escort duty was on the outside playing "Hail to the Chief."

whom I have learned to love, to believe in and to trust," said Mr. Ames, and three times three were given with a will.

The president's delight with so hearty a reception shone in his eyes and great sympathy was expressed when he started to speak. He was in very bad voice as the result of the many speeches he had made during the day and it was really a hardship for him to talk. He commented on the fact that he was in very bad voice but allowed that it would limber up before he got through.

The President's Speech

The president spoke substantially as follows:

"I wish to apologize to you for being here," he said in his opening. "I am sorry to have to be here. I feel it would be a great deal better if the president of the United States could not be forced into a personal and political controversy and have to travel all about the country and make political speeches in defence of himself and his administration. I think it would be wise if an amendment to the constitution were enacted which would make the term of the president six or seven years and which should forbid him from being a candidate for the office again."

"I have been forced to speak in de-

CLAIMS OF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEES

PRESIDENT TAFT

General Champlin, chairman of the Taft League in Massachusetts, claims a sweeping victory for Taft in today's primaries.

GOVERNOR WILSON

Francis M. Carroll of the Wilson campaign committee predicts that Governor Woodrow Wilson as the most available man and the most likely to win will lead as the democratic candidate in Massachusetts.

COL. ROOSEVELT

Matthew Hale of the Massachusetts Roosevelt committee claims that the Colonel will carry the state in a fight for the people against the bosses.

CHAMP CLARK

Congressman Curley predicts that Champ Clark will carry the state against Wilson by a large majority. He is an old time democrat who will be elected if nominated.

"Why, what's the matter, sonny?"

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative physic should always be the first treatment given.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad at your little one has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggists for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine, old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF LOWELL

In view of the national crisis that confronts the people of this nation in the coming presidential election, every citizen today has a duty to perform in the exercise of his franchise in the cause of safe and stable government. The voice of Massachusetts will count for much in the selection of candidates, and that voice should be heard on the side of wise conservatism rather than of radicalism gone mad. The republican party is apparently lined up with the dangerous forces of this nation and it, therefore, remains for the democratic party to stand for the protection of the courts, the constitution and the perpetuity of this republic. Let every democrat, therefore, exercise good judgment in voting at the primaries for the best, the ablest and most honest men, the men who can meet and defeat the surging elements that threaten the very existence of this republic.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

One of the prettiest vaudeville acts imaginable is that of Klatting's animal entertainers consisting of dogs, cats, doves and rabbits, a most unusual combination and a most charming one. The "professor" claims that his pets are "the absolute limit of animal intelligence" and after seeing them perform one will cheerfully agree with him. The cats, doves and rabbits are all pure white and are beautiful to behold even if they didn't act. As the curtain rises the animals are seen charmingly grouped on a platform. Then the company goes through a series of stunts with a cat for a comedian, the feline having an aversion to work. Then two peacocks on their hind limbs clasp each other in close embrace and to the music of "Every Little Movement" waltz gracefully about the stage keeping excellent time. The closing act is of rare beauty. A large balloon is suspended from the flies and the cats jump up to it catching hold and clinging by their claws. Then white doves circle about the theatre and finally light on the top of the balloon while underneath the dogs and rabbits appear. The stage is darkened and the spot light thrown on the balloon. Its pure white freight presenting a charming effect. It is an act that delights all. George Felix and the Barry girls present a laughable sketch entitled "The Boy Next Door." Felix is a grotesque comedian with funny face and moves and full of acrobatic stunts that make you laugh while the Barry girls are charming singers and dancers and are there with the comedy. They are charmingly groomed. One of the versatile stage hands is "rungs" in on this act for a fine bit of fun with Mr. Felix.

Nat Lelpisz, the world-famous card man, comes out with nothing up his sleeve and nothing in his hands but a deck of cards. He invites a committee of citizens to sit on the stage close by him and observe him closely. Then he proceeds to get busy and does the most mystifying tricks ever seen. The committee gets no wiser than the audience, but all agree that the stunts performed are marvelous.

"She'll Be Right," a western drama in one act, with plenty of action but not a blood and thunder production, is capably presented by Charles A. Keane ably assisted by Clay Clement and Miss B. Bruce. The story is that of a road agent who robs his own sister, being unaware of her identity. He makes his way to the home of the sheriff and there the secret of his rebellion to the woman he has robbed is disclosed and everything ends well after an intensely interesting sequence of events. Mr. Keane gives a fine interpretation of the role of the sheriff and Mr. Clement has the "heavy" part of the road agent. Miss Bruce filled the role of the girl most acceptably.

Hall is a young fellow, but he's there with the goods as a comedy juggler. He juggles every old thing and his act with the bats is particularly funny. Few have anything or Hall when it comes to throwing things into the air. The Holdsworths, one of whom is a son of Col. Sam Holdsworth, America's oldest singer, who opened the theatre here, present a pleasing singing, dancing and burlesque act. The male member of the team dances gracefully while playing his own accompaniment. The Carter Taylor company mix music and mirth in a pleasing opening act entitled "Camp Rest."

The Four Floods are comedy acrobats with a fine big budget of fun along with exceptional cleverness.

The pictures and the orchestra's contribution are also pleasing features.

NOTES FROM DEPOT

Foreigners Continue to Come This Way

Immigrants continue to come to this country and many of them are still arriving at the depot. This morning there were 33 who came here on the boat train from Fall River. The most of the aliens were Russian Poles. Two of the number are Arabs, and the latter remained in Lowell. The others went to Lawrence and Nashua, N. H.

The 10:40 train was twenty minutes late this morning.

It is expected that the summer schedule of trains will go into effect on June 24 and in the opinion of many at the depot, several important changes will be made.

The owners of houses and hotels at the different summer resorts are getting ready for the vacation season. This morning three local women left for Calabuffs at Martha's Vineyard where they manage places during the summer months.

Mrs. M. J. Oates of this city left this morning on the 11:53 train from the Lowell depot for Parsons, Kansas.

L. C. Ford, the popular baggage-master at the local station, will leave this city on May 17 for a few days' vacation with his parents at Haverhill, Vt.

TAKING OUT LICENSES

Clerk John J. Eberly, of the license commission, was one of the busiest men in Lowell today. He was kept on the jump all during the day passing out liquor licenses to people who had received a grant. Up to the middle of the afternoon all but five of the licenses had been taken out.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

In "The Runaway," the comedy which Miss Billie Burke brings to the Opera House next Thursday night, May 2, the popular young actress has found—so the critics both professional and amateur, say—the best role in her repertoire.

Colette in this play like Jacqueline in "Love Watches," the comedy in which Miss Burke made her debut as a star a few years ago, is one of those sweet young French girls whose innocence and ignorance are as beautiful as the ignorance at least is undesirable according to the teachings of up-to-date science. But there the similarity of the two characters ends. Jacqueline was a little aristocrat. Colette is a country girl. She is youth personified, full of ambition and romance. Her narrow minded relatives try to marry her to a country bumpkin and she rebels and runs away to her only friend, a great artist. In his studio, she finds shelter and at last love. It is a charming story told in a way to hold the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain. C. Aubrey Smith has the part of the artist and he plays it delightfully, just as he played Sir Marcus Ordeyne in "The Mould of Marcus" a few seasons ago. Others in the supporting company which is an exceptional one are George Howell, Morton Saltin, Edwin Alexander, who furnishes much of the comedy of the piece as the booby Colette refuses to marry; Jane Evans, Emily Wakeman, Isabel Garrison and Alice Gale.

ASSAULT CHARGED

Man Accused of Throwing Stone at Officer Briggs

Bernard Sudialis was arraigned before Judge Fisher in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Special Officer John J. Briggs. It is alleged that on April 18th while the officer was in the performance of his duty, the defendant threw a piece of a brick at him and struck him over the left eye. This is one of the alleged assaults in connection with the strike demonstration in the vicinity of the Hamilton mills.

Officer Briggs testified that the defendant was mingling in a crowd that had gathered around the Hamilton mills. On the morning in question he claimed that while he was attempting to arrest a man, the defendant struck him with either a brick or a piece of stone.

Testifying, Mr. Briggs said: "It was about 6:30 o'clock in the morning when I was attempting to arrest a man in Middlesex street, near the corner of Elliot street that this man took a stone or a brick out of his pocket and threw it at me. It struck me in the head and made a gash over my left eye. I was treated by Dr. Jones."

The witness testified that the wound had caused him considerable trouble and he has been suffering from headaches which he never had before. John G. Malone testified that he witnessed the assault and identified the defendant as the man who threw the brick.

Dr. William M. Jones was the next witness and he testified that he had attended Officer Briggs and took one stitch over the left eye.

The testimony offered by the defendant was a general denial.

At the conclusion of the case the court took the matter under advisement, deferring sentence until tomorrow morning.

Novel Case Heard

One of the most interesting cases that has been brought to the attention of the local police court during the past several months was that of Eugene Konekany who was brought before the court this morning on a complaint charging him with having set a fire in the open air. Owing to the act of the legislature and the alleged non-acceptance of the act the court reserved decision until next Friday in order that counsel for the government might be able to show that the act had been accepted or explained why the complaint was brought under the act in question.

According to the testimony offered the defendant occupied some land in Shaden street in Braut and on last Sunday he decided to burn some sprouts. Inasmuch as the man is a foreigner and probably ignorant of the law he did not realize that he was doing wrong until he was notified by the fire warden, Frank H. Gunther. The latter then turned the defendant over to one of the town constables.

Peter Bolton testified to seeing the fire burning on sprout land and that the defendant and other people were trying to extinguish the flames. No defense was offered but Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue, who appeared for the defendant, explained to the court that the complaint had been drawn under chapter 314 of the acts and resolves of 1911 and that inasmuch as the town of Braut had not accepted the act the action should not have been brought. Mr. Donahue argued at considerable length relative to the matter and after counsel on the other side had argued the court reserved a decision.

Stole Suit of Clothes

Frank E. Jones was charged with drunkenness and the larceny of a suit of clothes the property of Philip E. Tibbets. Mr. Tibbets testified that he met the defendant at the corner of Appleton and Elliot streets and said he was hungry and wanted something to eat. The complainant took Jones to his home in North street and supplied him with food and then went out for a few minutes and when he returned he found that a suit of clothes was missing. He reported the matter to the police and as a result of the activity of the members of the department, Patrolman Daniel W. Lewis placed the man under arrest in Central street.

The defendant told a story which did not meet with the approval of the court and Judge Fisher found the man guilty and ordered him to be sentenced to one month in jail.

Drunken Offenders

Peter J. Langdon, a parole man from the state farm, was in court this morning and will be returned to that institution. Cornelius O'Leary and James Edwards were fined $5 each. There were four first offenders who were fined $2 each and several simple drunks were released before the opening of the court.

THEATRE VOYONS

"A laugh is a pleasure and one gets his fill of it at the Theatre Voyons today if he sees "Alkali Ike's Boarding House." Every foot brings a full fledged laugh for it is a real truly comedy hit. The star performer is none other than Alkali Ike, the little homely western comedian of the Esplanade company and his co-partners in the lot of fun are many and clever. The story is not tiresome and the comedy is just the kind most suited to the public demand. Don't miss it. Two sterling dramatic productions, "A Little Wooden Shoe" and "One Is Business and the Other Crime"—the latter a biography—are strong favorites and deservedly so. The musical numbers are excellent.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The Merrimack Square theatre is this week presenting to its many patrons a program as has seldom been seen on any local stage. The offering which is sure to please everybody and partly proven it last night, is the one throughout and is worth seeing, for a company of able singers and dancers. This troupe is carried in the Scotch national costume and their program is furnished by Mr. and Mrs.

grain of songs and dances cannot be equalled. The company is composed of eight women and four men, all able performers, and for a good hour they supply chorus selections and solos which are very pleasing. The entire act is thoroughly entertaining and is worth seeing, for a company of able singers and dancers. This troupe is carried in the Scotch national costume and their program is furnished by Mr. and Mrs.

Danny Mann in "Mandy Hawkins." The piece has been seen in this city before but nevertheless it is interesting. The stage effect is very pretty and the play is rendered in a delightful manner.

Honey Johnson, otherwise known as "The Man in the Golden Shoes," is a fun maker of rare ability. His specialty is a little talk on women, and his witty sayings are sure to please everybody.

Prof. Karl and his two trained dogs carried the house last night. The act is very amusing and the really wonderful tricks performed by the two pups are astonishing.

Miss Grace Livingston, vocalist, is heard in new and pleasing illustrated songs. The photo-plays for the first three days of the week are well selected. The series includes one entitled "Jane Thorpe," a picture portrayed taken from English history of the 15th century, that's especially interesting. The others are equally good. The views, also, are those which have to do with present day events, and are interesting. These views, as well as the photo-plays, are changed semi-weekly.

The daily schedule for the presentation of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann's sketch is 3:10, 6:50 and 9:40 p. m. Sunday matinees are becoming more popular each week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

An invitation has been extended to all the M. T. I. Bachelor girls who took part in the big show on Sunday to witness this evening's performance at the Academy of Music. The show in itself, is one that has never been excelled at this popular show house. This probably is due to one act entitled, "The Actor and the Italian Laborer," which makes a whirlwind finish and has the audience in roars. The balance of the performance consists of W. J. Miles, a character chimpo artist and Dan & Brandon, a very clever team of singers and dancers. By special request the feature is "The Seventh Son," a story of the time of the Civil war, showing views of Abraham Lincoln, which are exceedingly true to life.

Good music, Oakland Campers, Thursday eve.

Harry Thaw to Make Another Effort to Gain His Freedom

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 30.—Harry K. Thaw, the young millionaire who killed Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden in June, 1906, is making another effort to gain his freedom from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, to which he was committed after a jury had acquitted him of the charge of murder on the ground that he was insane. The writ of habeas corpus that his mother obtained for him will come up Monday, May 6, before Justice Keogh in this city. This is the third effort that Thaw has made to prove that he is sane, and if it fails he is designed to spend many more years in the Matteawan asylum. Thaw was in court Saturday in order for the date to be set for the hearing. His hair has grown a trifle gray since he has been in the asylum, but his general health is improved. He weighs 155 pounds, and most of it is muscle, as he is in good physical condition. After the brief court proceedings he was returned to Matteawan. It is likely that he will be transferred to the Bloomfield asylum while the hearing is on here as that institution is within a short distance of White Plains, and the court proceedings may last several days.

CAPT. JAMES N. GREIG, CO. K.

SERGT. SCHUYLER WALLER, CO. K.

First Place Won by the Teams
of Company K

The athletic tournament of the Lowell Armory association, which took place last night and the winners were announced. The association will now purchase prizes and trophies and present them to the winners. The association is composed of teams from companies C, G, K and M, and all have shown good work during the present tournament.

The first prize for general excellence goes to Co. K, who got 11 points and lost only 26. The latter team came out on top in the shooting and the bowling, but fell to third place in the basketball. Capt. James N. Greig took the high position in the bowling and Sergt. Schuyler Waller came out first in the shooting. The third and fifth places in the shooting go to Private Keough and Private Gaudier respectively.

For general honors Co. G is a close second with a good lead in the basketball. Company C got second place in the basketball. The general standing of the teams is as follows:

JIMMY GARDNER

Fights at Denver, Colo., Tomorrow

Reports from Denver, Colo., say that Jimmy Gardner of Lowell is in great condition for his fight in that city tomorrow night. Jimmy has been training with Joe Thomas and his partner

JIMMY GARDNER

In a lot of work for the bout, he is confident that he will put his team away before the limit is reached. He is to meet Howard Baker, who is the holder of the middleweight championship of the middle west. The latter has trained hard and he too expects to win.

Gardner, of this city, who is one of the cleverest little boxers who was ever seen in action in this city, is now enjoying a much needed rest. He has been cutting the game, been very busy, appearing weekly. He has won every bout that he has participated in and the first three days of last week with "Jockey" Brady did a stunt at the Academy of Music. His last bout with Young Bonham was the most strenuous of his career. He won but had to fight hard to do so, as his opponent had about a 100 lbs. advantage on him.

COMPANY K WON
CAPTURED FIRST PLACE IN THE
RIFLE SHOOT

The Company K rifle team, for the third consecutive time, won the shoot at the Grand range Saturday afternoon, with a score of 236. Members of the winning company got the high total with 61.

WRESTLING BOUTS

Were Won by Zbyszko and Burns

BOSTON, April 30.—Cyclone Burns and Zbyszko were the winners in the two final catch-as-catch-can wrestling matches at the Grand Opera House last night. The former defeated Vanhook Rogers of Buffalo in two straight falls, and Zbyszko scored the same kind of a victory over Jess Westergard of Des Moines. There was a large audience and the contests provided a lot of action.

Rogers had some weight on Burns and the strength he displayed at times gave the crowd the idea that he would prove a tough customer. In the first half hour both had many locks on each other and a fall was looked for at any moment. Rogers tried a body scissors to get a fall, but Burns quickly turned him on his side. Then getting a head scissors and further armlock, he gradually forced Rogers' shoulders to the mat, winning the first fall in 21m. 12s. After five minutes rest the pair resumed the struggle. Both worked fast and gave a 23s exhibition. Rogers appeared tired from the struggle he had in the first session and it was only through a hard effort that he got away from dangerous holds. Finally he resorted again to the same lock that cost him the first fall and it proved again a bad one for him. Burns secured the same head scissors and arm lock and at the end of 13m. 40s. he was declared the winner of the second fall and match.

Zbyszko and Westergard each weighed close to 225 pounds and were in fine shape. Westergard is a finely built man and has considerable power. Zbyszko was as lively as a lightweight on his feet and whenever he was caught in a bad hold he displayed his knowledge of the game by breaking away in a clever manner.

A number of times in the first session the pair had each other close to a fall, but they got out of danger. Zbyszko finally secured a body crotch hold on the westerner and, employing all his strength, he forced Westergard's shoulders to the mat, winning the first fall in 38m. 23s. After the usual rest, they returned to the mat with Zbyszko looking fresher. After Westergard had wrestled out of a few holds Zbyszko landed the westerner on his back with the flying mare. Before he could get away Zbyszko forced Westergard's shoulders to the mat, winning the second fall and match in 6m. 58s. George Treacy was referee and Billy Leclair held the watch.

Three Live Wires of the St. Louis American
Team Trying to Make the Club a Winner

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—It is remarkable how one ball player can bring around a big change in a major league team, especially if he is a star. This has been demonstrated more than once, but perhaps never more forcibly than with the St. Louis American this season. For two years the Browns played listless ball and wound up in the last place. This spring it was predicted that they would again fall heir to the unenviable honor of cellar champions, but these critics failed to note that

George Stovall, whom the Browns obtained from Cleveland last winter, would make his presence felt on the team. He has certainly worked wonders with his fellows. The Browns from a quiet aggregation of pit chasers have developed into one of the scrappiest in the league. They fight from start to finish, and much of the credit belongs to "Stovall." He is setting the pace for his teammates. Not alone is he playing a brilliant game at first, but is batting better than he ever did. His gingerly playing has awakened the other members of the team. Another new regime for the Browns, so different from last season, is that there are daily meetings among Stovall, Manager Wallace and Pitcher Powell before the game, during and after. Weak spots are pointed out, changes are suggested and everything done to make St. Louis a first division club. Picture shows the trio chatting during a recent game.

WASHINGTON PARK FLYNN AND CLANCY C. Y. M. L. LEAGUE

To be Used by the Y. M. C. A.

A special meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. temporary rooms in the Russell building last evening, F. A. Bowen presiding.

It was announced at the meeting that the association will have the use of Washington park during the summer months, to be used as a baseball field and for other athletic events.

There were musical numbers by William Wilson and Russell Fox as an opener and then the members took up a general discussion of the proposition of hiring Washington park during the coming summer months. President Bowen talked at some length and he was followed by A. J. Wicks who spoke on "Activities on the Field," R. R. Ginn spoke on "Baseball" and W. J. Wilson, Theodore Pearson and others talked on the general subject of athletics.

The question of revenues was talked over at considerable length and plans devised which it is hoped will meet the expenses which will come.

At the close of the meeting the board of directors met and voted to accept the recommendations of the body and arrangements made for the immediate use of the park by the boys. The schedule provides for the opening of the park from the present to Oct. 1, excepting May 30, July 4, Labor day and Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons until 6 o'clock, when the Lowell high school team will have use of the grounds, until the close of the season.

Will Meet Again Thursday Night

The week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club will be held on Thursday evening in Mathew hall.

A fine program has been arranged for the meeting. The main bout will undoubtedly be one of the best of the season. It will be furnished by Eddy Flynn of Lynn and Young Clancy of Boston, who gave such a lively exhibition at last week's meeting. The bout at the last meeting lasted five rounds and during that time the members were given one of the fastest bouts that was ever staged here. The seto came to an abrupt ending when one of Flynn's seconds violated the boxing rules by stepping into the ring. Clancy was declared the winner. The members were anxious to see the pair at it again and both men are confident of winning. They are training hard for the bout and report that they are in the best of condition. The bout will show Young Stone of Lowell and Chester Bernard of Lynn. The former is well known to the members as he has put up some of the best bouts of season. Bernard will be remembered as the boy who met Young Boyle at the club two weeks ago and gave such a creditable exhibition. This is scheduled for 8 rounds. The preliminaries will be of six rounds each. In the first Young Sautou of Chelsea will clash with Tommy Doyle of this city. Both are fast boys and should give a good exhibition. The other prelim will introduce Young Kellier of Belvidere and Terry O'Rourke of Lawrence.

These two met at the club last week and furnished great sport for the members. They are great hustlers and were hard at it all the time. The first bout will start at 8:15 o'clock and Billy Gardner will referee.

LOWELL BATTED HARD

And Wolfgang Pitched a Great Game

HAVERHILL, April 30.—Lowell battered Haverhill's two pitchers hard yesterday, and profited by the home team's errors, piling up a 15 to 3 victory. Wolfgang struck out 10 men and kept Haverhill's hits well scattered except in the third inning. A one-handed catch by Rising near the fence was a feature. The score:

MELDON WOLFGANG

Pitched His First League Game and Won

Meldon Wolfgang, Lowell's star pitcher, who was the leading star artist in the New England league, pitched his first league game of the season yesterday. Last season he won 27 games and lost 5. He went to the St. Louis American, but as they have a wonderful pitching staff there was no room for Wolfgang. The truth of the story of Wolfgang with the cellar champions of the American league is that the St. Louis American did not get a show. However, the Lowell fans are glad that he is back with the old folks once again. They still believe that he is good enough to be with the big show, but as he was such an important factor in bringing the pennant to the Spindle City last year they hope that he will repeat this season. In his opening game yesterday against Haverhill he showed his real last year's mid-season form and had Lave Grass and his boys at his mercy. Lowell won by the score of 15 to 3. In the game Wolfgang struck out 10 men and though the Haverhill team got ten hits, they were well scattered. The pitching of the Lowell twirler was the feature of the game.

Cong. Berger Tells Socialists
He Will Retain His Office

MAYOR LUNN EX-MAYOR SEIDEL CONGRESSMAN BERGER

NEW YORK, April 30.—Congressman Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee has no doubt that he will be returned to congress by his constituents. He made this statement at a mass meeting in the Hippodrome called to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the Daily Forward, a socialist newspaper. Mayor George F. Lunn of Schenectady and Emil Seidel, former mayor of Milwaukee, both socialists, were other speakers. In his telling about his future plans Congressman Berger said: "I intend to go back to congress. The labor class wants me there and I like my job. Moreover, for the first time in my life I am getting decent wages. I don't manage to keep any of it, but I get it, and that's something. I promise you to be elected again and to take a companion back with me. I expect you to send at least one from New York. I am looking for one from North Dakota and two or three from Ohio. I expect that the party will pull 2,000,000 votes and that there will be twelve or fifteen socialist congressmen."

the cotton was spun, woven and finished all under one roof. He also established the supervision of the corporation by the treasurer. For these and other reasons he is entitled to be considered the father of American cotton manufacturing as an industry. Previous to his time it had been the possession of merely a domestic handicraft. With Patrick Jackson he invented the American power loom, for which a patent was granted by the United States, Feb. 22, 1815.

MONTHLY REUNION

Was Held at St. Joseph's
College

A very interesting entertainment was given yesterday afternoon by the pupils of St. Joseph's college, the affair being the monthly reunion. The attendance was very large as many of the parents of the young boys were present.

The program rendered was as follows:

"Avalanche," galop, college orchestra; "Recueillement," violin solo, second violin division; compositions of the seventh and eighth classes; "Frere de l'Enfant," romance, Lucien Milot; "Hearts and Flowers," violin solo, Donat Geoffroy; compositions, fifth and sixth classes; "The Camel's Nose," recitation, group of pupils of seventh class; "Zouaves," violin solo, by the second violin division; "The Boy and the Boat," recitation, Frederick Leclerc; compositions, third and fourth classes; "Simple Aven," violin solo, Leo Heneux; "Politesse et Gourmandise," Emile Daigle, Gustave Normandin, Louis Bailey and Irene Lorranger; compositions of first and second classes; "Pince," pantomime, A. Lenoire, R. Lemire, E. Lambert, R. Heneux, R. Rasse and L. Giroux, all of the first class; "Le Regiment," chorus in two parts; reading of the names on the roll of honor for the month; "Our Fathers," march, college orchestra.

Previous to the last number of the program, there were brief remarks by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Fr. Wastelle, O. M. I., in which he complimented the boys on their splendid work, both in the line of school duties and on the general excellence of the program, also urging them to continue along the same lines.

The members of the orchestra are: Director and cornet, Brother Gonzalez; violin, D. Geoffroy, Leo Heneux, Ernest Heneux, Wilmer Richard; piano, Leo Lesieur; drums, Leo Mongeau; first division violins: Henri Grenier, Ernest Mercier, Omer Lincourt, Andre Gagnon, Arthur Lemire, Donat Dubois, Henri Genest, Thomas Chouinard, George Langlois; second division violins: Edde, Doucet, Roland Boudreau, Rodrigue Thibodeaux, Alfred Desjardis, William Rondeau, Wilfred Blouin, Philippe Morin, Abia Gauthier and Arthur Bergeron.

TITANIC DISASTER

ness stand before the senate committee of inquiry into the Titanic disaster. Mr. Ismay testified before the subcommittee in New York, the day after the steamship Carpathia docked with the survivors and has been in Washington listening to all the testimony that has been given by surviving officers and members of the Titanic's crew. He was at the senate office building early, eager to have the inquiry over that he might return to England, where his business affairs since the catastrophe have been piling up.

The committee contemplated calling for a few minutes before summoning Mr. Ismay. Fourth Officer J. G. Boxhall of the Titanic of whom Senator Burton desired to ask a few questions. Before the hearing was resumed today Senator Burton announced that he had examined Fourth Officer Boxhall late last night and had learned from him that J. W. Andrews, builder of the Titanic, who went down with the ship, told Captain Smith after the collision that the boat would sink within an hour.

"Andrews had gone over the ship immediately after the crash and discovered that her hull had been ripped open," Senator Burton said.

E. J. Dunn, an importer of New York, was the first witness. He told of a conversation of his on or so ago with a friend told of receipt by the Western Union company of a wireless message which was transmitted to "Tele Frank" between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Monday morning, April 15. The code address is that of P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the International Mercantile Marine. The message, the witness said, he was informed, told of the Titanic disaster, news of which was not made public by the White Star line until 12 hours later.

"What was your informant's name?" "I am under pledge not to reveal his name," replied Dunn.

"When did you see him last?" "Last night in New York at the train. He promised to come over here to testify. Today I received the following telegram: 'Regret present circumstances do not permit departure. (No signature.) That is all I know of his failure to be here.'"

"Did your informant tell you why you should give his name?" "Simply a matter of protecting his father. He said his father was employed by the Western Union and that if this matter came out and it was known that he gave it his father would lose his job."

Mr. Dunn was temporarily excused. Senator Smith telling him to retire to his office. Charles Morgan of Cleveland, a deputy United States marshal, also brought to Washington the witness, Louis Klein, who subsequently disappeared, was next called. He said that Klein had signed a paper waiving issuance of subpoena and had come to Washington voluntarily. He said Klein disappeared from his hotel several days ago and could not be found. Senator Smith left the room after Mr. Morgan had testified and conferred with Mr. Dunn in his private office. He instructed Dunn to get in telephone communication with the man who told him about the mysterious message and to ask his permission to disclose his identity.

CAPT. LARDNER OF CABLESHIP DESCRIBED WORK AT SEA

HALIFAX, April 30.—Col. Astor's body was brought off the cableship shortly before noon and taken with others to the morgue. Capt. Lardner then related interviews of his crew and described the work of the death ship at sea.

The total number of bodies found, he said, was 306. Of these 116, most of them members of the Titanic's crew and unidentified, were consigned to the sea, leaving 190 which were brought to Halifax. Only 18 women were found floating and several of these were buried. The exact number of identities among the 190 brought here Captain Lardner preferred to leave to an official statement to be issued tonight by the White Star authorities.

The captain told of the finding of the body thought to be that of Mr. Widener, which was buried at sea. George Widener, he said, talked to the captain the day and felt sure that it was that of Edward Keating, Mr. Widener's valet. There were letters in the pockets addressed to C. B. Widener but the initials on the overcoat were "E. K." and the quality of the underclothing was not similar to that Mr. Widener wore.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said 'I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl.'—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

Bodies of the great Titanic dotted the sea over an area of 20 miles. Doors, windows and chairs by the score were found floating but none of them were bodies lashed. In general, as there were groups of the bodies, bodies numbering fifty or more, but none were lashed together. Col. Astor was found dressed in a blue suit standing almost erect in his lifeboat.

Small boats were lowered by the Mackay-Bennett whenever a group of bodies was sighted and into these the bodies were piled three or four at a time. Hauled on board the cableship, each was numbered with a large canvas tag and the valuables and papers placed in a canvas sack.

"We buried so many at sea," said Captain Lardner, "simply because we could not accommodate them. We had limited embalming supplies and it was absolutely necessary to consign many to the deep. None, if any passengers, I believe, were buried except perhaps in the case of Mr. Widener's valet. The great majority of these sank without being buried without even clothing as a means of telling who they were. We had instructions when we left here to pick up all the Titanic's dead we found, but under the conditions it was impossible to carry out these instructions."

Starting with the departure of the ship from Halifax on Wednesday, April 17, the commander told how fog and bad weather delayed her so that she did not reach the scene of her labors until Saturday night at 8 o'clock. "As soon as we arrived," he continued, "we slept and let our vessel drift. During the middle watches some wreckage and a few bodies were sighted and at daylight we saw more bodies. Although a heavy sea was running we recovered 31 bodies that day. Twenty-four of these were committed to the deep the same day. Most of them had been members of the Titanic's ship company. We began work again at daylight on Monday and recovered 25 that day. On Tuesday morning bodies were numerous and at noon we had picked up 50. The weather then came up thick, but that afternoon we picked up 29 more. All day Wednesday we were in the thick fog with a fresh wind blowing south southwest. We saw nothing all day. On Thursday we recovered eighty-seven. The ship came up to us shortly after midnight on Friday and at daylight Saturday the two ships resumed the work together. By noon that day we had recovered 14 dead and we left for Halifax, having on board all we could care for."

J. BRUCE ISMAY RECALLED

TO WITNESS STAND TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The senate investigation into the wreck of the Titanic entered its final stages today. J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine, owners of the lost liner, was recalled to the witness stand and put through a last searching examination by Senator Smith.

Mr. Ismay indignantly denied that he or any representative of his company had attempted to restrain the Titanic between the time she went down and the hour the real news of the disaster became public.

Mr. Ismay said the Titanic was not a "speed boat" but had been constructed under orders given by him to make her the biggest and best equipped vessel afloat.

A charge was made to the committee today that the White Star line officials had positive news of the disaster between the hours of 7 and 8 a. m. on the day following the incident but suppressed the news until 12 hours later. The information was given by E. J. Dunn, a New York business man, who said he in turn got his information in New York from the son of a Western Union employee. He refused to divulge his informant's name and was promptly given over to the sergeant-at-arms. He spent the remainder of the morning using the long distance telephone to New York in an effort to be absolved from his pledge of secrecy.

Vice President Franklin of the White Star line suggested that the committee call on the telegram company for the message and said he wanted the committee to have every wireless message, cablegram or telegram bearing on the disaster.

THE POLICE OF PARIS
Have Declared War Against the
Anarchists

PARIS, April 29.—Relentless war against the anarchists in France is to be one result of the operations of the police, the graveside of a "demonstrator" of automobile brigands, Donnot band of anarchists, was yesterday at Chateaux-Le-Roi, near Paris, after a desperate battle with police and soldiers. The police department is amazed at the recent discovery of the large number of anarchists who have taken refuge in Paris from all the countries of Europe. These will now be arrested and driven from France as enemies of society. The funeral of Assistant Supt. Jouin of the Paris detective department, who was shot dead while endeavoring to arrest Roussel, the "demonstrator" at Petit Ivry April 21, took place today. The ceremony was imposing. # U. S. GOVERNMENT

Asks Federal Court to Issue Injunctions Against Harvester Co.

The U. S. government today began the much discussed suit against the International Harvester Co. The suit is based on the claim that the Company is a trust, and injunctions are sought to bar its products from interstate commerce. This is the case that has figured so prominently for several days past in the controversy between Pres. Taft and Col. Roosevelt. The suit was filed in the federal court at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30. The government today began its long-planned anti-trust suit against the International Harvester company in the federal district court here. In a petition in equity this $140,000,000 corporation, popularly called the Harvester trust, is declared to exist in violation of the Sherman law and its dissolution is sought.

To accomplish the disintegration of the so-called trust, the government asks the court to issue injunctions to bar from interstate commerce the products of the International Harvester company or the International Harvester company of America, its selling agency. The appointment of receivers to take charge of the property and wind up the business "if the court should be of the opinion that the public interests will be better served thereby," is suggested.

The filing of the suit comes as the climax of five years of investigation by the government. Late in the case has figured prominently in political discussion between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt, regarding certain instructions which Mr. Roosevelt, while president in 1907, gave to his attorney-general, Charles J. Bonaparte, concerning the prosecution of the concern. What the senate.

In brief, the government charges the Harvester company with being a combination in restraint of trade, monopolizing or attempting to monopolize the manufacture and sale of harvesting machinery. It is alleged that the company has advanced the prices of these articles "to the grave injury of the farmer and the general public," and is extending its business into all lines of agricultural implements with the purpose of monopolizing control.

Government's Charges
The government alleges that the International Harvester company controls at least 90 per cent. of the trade in the United States in harvesters of grain binders, 75 per cent. of the mowers and more than 50 per cent. of the binder twines. There are only three or four manufacturers of harvesting machinery in the United States other than the International Harvester company, the petition says. These, it is added, are comparatively small, and as their business does not embrace the entire United States, in many sections of the country the International Harvester company has a complete monopoly of harvesting machinery. Considering agricultural implements of every kind, other than harvesting machinery, the petition declares that the output of the alleged trust amounts to over thirty per cent. of the whole.

The government contends that the corporation has eliminated competition by securing control of a great majority of the retail implement dealers in the United States who are made their exclusive selling agents. The petition says:

"The opportunities for any new competitors are constantly being closed by the defendants in all lines of agricultural implements; the agencies for distribution, the retail implement dealers, and others are rapidly coming under their undisputed control, and unless prevented and restrained, the complete unchallenged domination of every branch of trade and commerce in agricultural implements of all kinds may be confidently expected at an early date."

Absorbed Competing Companies
The government charges that the defendants have absorbed competing companies, but concealed the acquisition of the companies and without "connection with them, the trust or any combination," intending thereby to "eliminate, deceive and defraud the public and more effectively cripple existing competitors and keep out new ones."

The Defendants
The following corporations and individuals are mentioned as defendants of the petition: International Harvester company of America, International Harvester company, Wisconsin Steel company, Illinois Northern Railway, the Chicago, West Pullman & Southern Railroad company, Cyrus H. McCormick, Charles Deering, James Deering, John J. Glessner, William H. Jones, Harold F. McCormick, Richard F. Howe, Edgar A. Hancock, George E. Baker, William J. Loucksback, Norman B. Ream, Charles Steele, John A. Chapman, Albert H. Gary, Thomas D. Jones, John P. Wilson, William L. Saunders, George W. Perkins. The prosecution of the case will be directed by Edward P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the attorney-general, who had charge of the "bath tub trust" cases. In addition to Mr. Grosvenor, the petition is signed by Attorney-General Wickersham, J. A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney-general, and Charles C. Hough, United States district attorney at St. Paul.

"In many states," the petition declares, "the farmers' expenditures for harvesting machinery and twine aggregate considerably more than fifty per cent. of the total expense incurred by him in purchasing agricultural machinery and implements of all kinds."

Organized in New Jersey
The International Harvester company was organized in New Jersey in 1912. Prior to that time, the government declares, there were ten or twelve establishments for the manufacture and sale of harvesting implements in active competition with each other. The alleged trust was formed through the combination of the McCormick Harvesting Machine company of Illinois; the Deering company of Illinois; the Plano Manufacturing company of Illinois; the Warder Business & Gleason company of Ohio; and the

FATALLY INJURED

Conductor Thrown Under Wheels of Train at Ayer

John A. Page, a conductor on the Portland division of the Boston & Maine railroad met with a fatal accident at Ayer last night, when in attempting to catch his train at that city he struck a water spout and was thrown under the wheels, and both his legs were cut off. A special train was made up at Ayer to take the unfortunate man to the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston, but he died in the train before it reached its destination.

Page was well known in Lowell. He was a resident of Lawrence, Mass. He was in the employ of the Boston & Maine for over 30 years and was very popular with all who knew him. He was seen at the depot on Middlesex street at 10:45 o'clock and was in good spirits. He talked with several attaches at the local depot and the news of his death was a severe blow to all of the local railroadmen as they all knew him. He had been conductor of the train that caused his death for some time. It was known as the New York train. Last night the train left Portland at 7:15 o'clock and arrived at Lowell at 10:27 o'clock. It left Lowell at 10:45 and went to Ayer, arriving there at 11:15. It was shortly after that time that the accident occurred. Page was to take the train as far as Worcester, where he would be relieved. The train then proceeded to New York.

ENGINEERS' TROUBLE
NEW YORK, April 30.—Before the representatives of the engineers of the 50 eastern railroads engaged in further conference today with United States Labor Commissioner Neill and Judge Martin A. Knapp of the United States commerce court in an effort to bring about a settlement of the question of increased wages demanded by the locomotive drivers, Grand Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers remarked:

"I believe it will have to come to arbitration." The numerous conferences that have been going on between the mediators and the engineers and with the railroad representatives have so far resulted in no solution of the wage demands. Early today the committee of railroad managers announced that they had submitted a proposition to the interstate commerce commission to serve as arbitrator in the case and that the commission had declined to serve and Mr. Stone had refused also to accept the commission as arbitrator. After a series of conferences the Millwaukee Harvester company. The aggregate annual output of these five concerns, it is said, amounted to over 85 per cent. of all the harvesting machinery and fifty per cent. of all the binder twine produced and sold in the United States, at that time.

In organizing the International Harvester company, the defendants were accused, the petition declares, by a determination to secure control of interstate commerce in harvesting machinery, and twine, and to expand also into other classes of agricultural machinery with a purpose of monopoly. The company was incorporated in New Jersey with a capital stock originally of $120,000,000. The control of the capital stock was placed in the hands of three voting trustees: Cyrus H. McCormick, Charles Deering and George W. Perkins, who issued stock certificates to the persons actually owning the stock.

In explaining the disposition of the stock, the petition says that $3,451,853 was issued to J. P. Morgan & Co. for underwriting services and legal expense, and $3,118,197 for the same firm in reimbursement for the cash expended to secure the property of the Milwaukee Harvester company.

FOUR WERE DROWNED
PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—The capsizing of an overcrowded dory early today caused the drowning of the captain and three passengers. The schooner Ranger, owned by E. N. Kelley of Portland, Me., where all the men belonged. The four men who were drowned were Captain Peter Gomez, Manuel Vars, John Small and Ferdinand Gomez Oliva. There were five men in the boat but the fifth, Captain Antonio Rodriguez of the schooner Bradley, owned by the same company, grasped the dory when it came to the surface and succeeded in righting it and saved those on board.

The men came ashore last night and after spending the evening on the beach started to return to their vessels early today. The five men crowded into the small boat and had rowed only a short distance when a heavy sea caught them unawares and overturned their little craft. A boat went out to the scene when Captain Rodriguez reported the accident and the bodies were recovered. The Ranger carries a crew of 12 men.

$500,000 DAMAGE

Caused by Fire in New York

NEW YORK, April 30.—Fire today broke out in the top floors of the 12 storied Exchange building on West 21st street and before it was extinguished three floors were burned out, causing a loss estimated at $500,000. The offices of D. Appleton, publishers, were swept by flames and a dozen or more printing and mercantile establishments were burned out.

DELEGATES FOR TAFT

CONCORD, N. H., April 30.—The republican state convention to elect delegates to the Chicago convention and adopt a party platform convened in Phoenix hall shortly before noon today. The overwhelming majority of five to one for Taft in the presidential preference primaries of a week ago made the duties of organization and selection of Taft delegates today more or less perfunctory.

Few Roosevelt supporters were in the city on the night before the convention but they arrived in large numbers early today from all corners of the state and when the convention opened proved to be a strong and enthusiastic body. Every effort was made to keep the Roosevelt men together for a surprise showing of strength in the balloting for delegates to the national convention, for which the Roosevelt men had a stake and in opposition to the instructing of the delegates.

Almost no opposition was offered to the nomination of the convention officers by the Taft forces, the latter allowing a sprinkling of Rooseveltists in the minor places.

Owing to there being a large number of proxies among the 812 delegates entitled to seats in the convention some concern was felt by the Taft supporters as to how the men would line up. The Roosevelt leaders put in active work among the proxies and succeeded in carrying many of the doubtful ones but it had no material effect on the outcome and the selection of Taft delegates was at no time in doubt.

The convention was called to order by Jesse M. Burton of Newport, chairman of the republican state committee and the convention proceeded at once to the election of officers, Sherman E. Burroughs of Manchester being elected chairman.

Mr. Burroughs struck straight at the Roosevelt campaign in the opening of his address and declared New Hampshire was not ready yet "to destroy our landmarks and surrender the constitution with all its sacred guarantees." He said "New Hampshire does not and true expression of her sentiment in the language of the church and the pulpit" and that the mottoes of "A square deal" and "Let the people rule" are not so much impressive emblems as the banners of the steel trust and associated interests.

Reviewing the achievements of Pres. Taft during his term of office he besought the delegates to support Taft and to their full strength the candidate who stood for the constitution, which had been preserved to the Union and so ably defended by a son of New Hampshire, Daniel Webster.

BOARD OF TRADE TO HOLD MEETING AT MATHEW HALL
The executive committee and the manufacturing and mercantile affairs committee have completed arrangements for the holding of a mass meeting of the members and friends of the board of trade to be held at Mathew hall, Dutton street, Tuesday, May 7th at 8 p. m.

The topic of discussion will be "The Compensation of Insurance for Employers" as provided by the Massachusetts Employers Insurance association and the law of the Workmen's Compensation act. The committees have secured Mr. P. Spencer Baldwin, who is secretary of the directors of the association and he will explain in detail the workings of the association and shall be prepared to answer all questions pertaining to the subject.

As the law goes into effect July 1st, the questions that concern an employer is determining his course of action with reference to the new compensation act relating to the compensation of the liability acts of coming under the Compensation plan and also to the comparative advantages of insurance with the Massachusetts Employers association or with one of the liability companies.

Certain statements concerning the Employers association have been made which are misleading and the many details of the proposition are unknown to many employers. The act applies to all employers of labor except in domestic service and farm work.

The directors appointed by the governor include Mr. Patrick F. Sullivan of Lowell, president of the Bay State Street Railway company. The directors appointed by the governor are as follows:

Henry Howard of Brookline, William C. Day of Springfield, Walter C. Fish of Lynn, Louis K. Liggitt of Boston, James S. Murphy of Brookline, Edgar J. Rich of Winchester, Patrick F. Sullivan of Lowell, Fred H. Daniels of Worcester, Charles S. Converse of Boston, Walter H. Langshaw of New Bedford, Frederick C. McDuffie of Lawrence, Hon. Wm. B. Plunkett of Adams, James W. Spence of Rockland and George F. Willett of Norwood.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. P. Spencer Baldwin, who is secretary of the directors, was a former dean at Harvard university, of good appearance and an outpour of good nature. The meeting should prove to be interesting and instructive and Secretary John H. Murphy is now engaged in forwarding invitations to the members to attend.

MOTION PICTURES
OF THE TITANIC DISASTER TO BE BARRED
PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—Action was taken by the police today to prevent the exhibition in this city of motion pictures purporting to represent the Titanic disaster or scenes on the giant steamer after the collision with an iceberg. Such pictures, Chairman Luther of the police commission, declared "will be considered fraudulent and will be barred."

There was a decline in the last hour—There was pressure around the leaders—Other features of the day's trading.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Reading continued to be the feature of the first hour, recovering from its early loss but soon yielding again. Lehigh Valley was strong but the feature of the railway group was Baltimore & Ohio, which rose 2 1/2 points in connection with rumors of a reduction plan. International Harvester was unaffected by the falling of the government's suit, rising over three points, while U. S. Steel reversed its position of the opening and was in better demand than recently. A few of the less prominent specialties, also sold at marked advances.

The market remained dull and hesitating, evidently awaiting the outcome of impending political and industrial conditions. Prices hardened, however, and by mid-day almost a score of specialties, some of minor importance, had registered advances ranging from one to four points. Baltimore & Ohio retained its early advantage while more steadiness was shown by Lehigh Valley and Reading.

Dullness ensued when the market began to ease off. Cheap stocks were the most affected. Reading and Lehigh Valley reacting a point. Western railroad shares were not influenced by the government's weekly summary of crop conditions. The list receded sharply in the second hour of the afternoon, such leaders as Reading, U. S. Steel and U. P. falling from 1 to 2 points, compared with earlier high quotations. American Smelting was marked up a point in face of the general weakness. Another moderate selling movement in the last hour resulted in a narrow decline to the day's lowest prices with pressure again converging around the leaders.

BEATEN AND ROBBED

Woman Was Attacked by a Would-be Tenant

NEW YORK, April 29.—A short, stocky man who had twice told Mrs. Anna Missett last week that he was desirous of renting the second floor of her house, 61 East Thirty-second street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock rang the door bell and said that he wished to measure the rooms of the floor that was vacant.

Mrs. Missett asked him why he wanted to see the size of the rooms since he had been there before, and the man answered that he wanted to make arrangements for the purchase of carpets and rugs. Thereupon Mrs. Missett accompanied the man to the second floor and saw him take out a tape measure and put down in a book the length and breadth of each room.

When he had finished Mrs. Missett went to the stairway and started to go down, the man following her. She had reached the middle of the flight of stairs when the man struck her a terrific blow with a blunt weapon, stunning her for the instant. Mrs. Missett fell headlong down the stairway, and a second afterward she saw the man, his face changed intensely from the expression when she conducted him upstairs.

"I want some money," he said. Mrs. Missett says she was too dazed to even answer him, and the man then brutally pulled her shawl from her shoulders and began to tear it into strips.

Still Mrs. Missett was too alarmed to make any outcry and she was pulled up from the floor and dragged to one of the rooms. There the man tied one of the short strips around her face, stuffing one of the strips into her mouth. The woman could not move her tongue. With the other strips of the shawl the man bound the woman's ankles and her arms.

"I want money and I'm going to get it," the man said, flaring at his victim. Mrs. Missett declared that the man looked at her as if he suddenly had gone mad.

Mrs. Missett says the man pulled open several drawers and then stood over her grinning. He had found nothing worth taking in his search. The man then made Mrs. Missett stand up and told her he was going to search her to get the money.

Without any further warning he then tore the woman's waist off her and then tossed the torn parts of the garment into a fireplace. Mrs. Missett said she could make no outcry and felt as if she were only partly conscious as the man then pulled her shirt off, and finally when she was almost dazed, discovered $12 which the woman had concealed in her corsage. The man then made his escape.

FAMILIES MAROONED

Flood in Louisiana Caused Great Distress and Destruction

TERREHA, La., April 30.—Narratives of destruction and distress reached here from the flood country to the north. Telegraph stations in the inundated territory indicate that hundreds of families have been ruined.

Conditions in Catholic parish were reported desperate. Only about ten per cent. of the total area of the parish is above water. Thirty families are reported marooned and destitute 30 miles below Melville.

An attempt will be made to get supplies to them today. The telegraph offices at Morville, Jeffries, Elspohnd, and Blackhawk on the Louisiana Pacific road went out of commission today.

Before leaving the operator at Morville reported:

"Water up to my instruments. Have to quit. Off to the hills."

DOCTORS USE THIS FOR ECZEMA

Dr. Evans, ex-commissioner of health, writes: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood. The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of whitegrease, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as Dr. D. D. Prescription for Eczema."

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing it for years. It does the work. It takes away the itch the instant you apply it."

In fact, we are so sure of what Dr. D. D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find it does the work.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

BRISK BUSINESS

Being Done by the Local Auto Dealers

The local automobile dealers have been doing a good business during the past week and about a score of cars have been sold. In some instances the purchasers of cars do not sanction the use of their name until the cars are delivered while in other cases the purchasers do not object. The repair business has also been very good and cars which have been used by local people during the past season are being overhauled and painted or minor repairs being made on them.

The Popular Buick
Mr. Fred P. Litchwood has purchased a model 25 Buick touring car through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation. The machine was delivered to Mr. Litchwood during the past week. A model 21 Buick touring car was also delivered to Joseph Goodman. Mr. Charles H. Fanning is enjoying rides in his model 35 Buick which was recently delivered to him.

Many Ford Cars Sold
Dr. Foster H. Smith, the city physician, has purchased a Ford touring car. The doctor has used a Ford before and he secured such good results with the car that naturally he purchased another.

Undertaker Joseph Albert is the possessor of a Ford touring car which is a beauty.

Mr. H. M. Wilcox has purchased a Ford car with a torpedo body through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart.

International Truck
International trucks are the talk of the town at the present time. Ervin E. Smith company, 43, 44, and 45 Market street, have already sold trucks to Mr. Alex Cruden, the caterer, Fred W. Park driver of the artesian wells, R. A. Davis, wholesale paper dealer, the Standard Bottling company, and H. G. A. company of Billerica center. The truck is certainly giving excellent satisfaction and there is nothing equal to it for its size and price. They are made in six models, both water and air cooled. The Boston style pattern is a pattern that seems to be the most popular one. This model comes with three different styles of bodies, a stake body, a rack body and a body with flaring sides. Up to the present time it has been a question of getting these trucks fast enough to fill orders, the company is now guaranteeing delivery within two weeks.

Telephone Co. Buys Auto Cycles
The New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. has purchased three twin cylinder Excelsior auto-cycles, to be used in the cable department on trouble work. The machines were sold by Mark J. McCann, local agent, and as this company has been using another prominent make.

The following persons ordered Excelsior auto-cycles during the past week: Mr. Henry W. Livingston, Billerica Centre, model 6T; Mr. Frederick J. Osgood, model 4B; Mr. Clyde W. Gray, model 6T; Mr. Edward Osterman, model RM; Mr. Paul Gray, model 6T; Mr. Samuel Donerty, model 6T. The Excelsior factory is turning out 100 machines a day and can make deliveries on all models.

The Stevens-Duryea
Mr. George R. Dana, representing the Stevens-Duryea cars, reports business as having been very satisfactory and prospects bright as regards the sale of cars. Mr. Dana now has on his floor two Stevens-Duryea cars ready for delivery, both A. A. 6 cylinder chassis, one having an English purple lake 5-passenger touring body, the other a golden brown 5-passenger torpedo body and a perfect beauty.

Mr. Dana reports his general garage business as good and is looking for a most satisfactory season.

New Auto Chemical
One of the latest creations in automobiles is the Methylol auto chemical for which the Lowell Automobile corporation has the agency. This machine is compact, complete and competent and in the different cities where they have been used they have given satisfaction. The machine is built along the lines of runabout with extinguishers on the sides. In the rear there is a basket with 100 feet of hose and a haloway 35 gallon tank with 300 pounds pressure.

That patly yellow car with the black trimmings which you have noticed on the street lately, is not a new make of car which has come to town, as some who have stood and watched it go by imagined, but the "made over" car of Harry Pitts, proprietor of the Pitts Auto Supply in Third street. Harry never did believe in doing things by halves, and that is why, the car presents such a finished appearance.

HER NECK BROKEN

Woman Found Dying in the Street

BOSTON, April 30.—Mrs. Celia Gate, 25 years of age, was found in a night gown, dying on the street, at midnight this morning and died a few minutes later at the City hospital from a broken neck.

Mystery surrounds her death. She was discovered on the sidewalk in front of No. 8 Yarmouth street, and as near as could be learned from Mrs. Mary Haley, the landlady of the lodging house at that number, she had roomed there since February.

The police were first notified of the affair by John Hickey of 98 Chandler street. He phoned to the police. The woman was hurried to the hospital, where she died almost at the moment she was carried into the institution.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

NOTHING BUT THE SPEED BEHIND THE CAR

The naming of a car is often as much of a problem as selecting a John-William-Henry for a pair of newlywed's first born. And once a really good name is hit on, the chances are it will go down in gasoline history in indelible ink.

Race car names are usually suggested by some striking characteristic of the car itself. The Marmon Wasp got its name from its long slender lines. The name "Yellow Jacket" would have been even better because of the color, but at that "Wasp" went very nicely, and has become a by-word. The old Chalmers "Blue Bird" got its name from its color. The "Blitzen Benz" was called Blitzen because it showed lightning speed in its first work out.

The White Steamer, driven by Webb Jay, in the old dirt track days, won its name "Whisking Billy" from the peculiar noise made by its thermostat. Barney Oldfield's "Red Devil" got its name from its color, and the dare-devil at the wheel, so on down through the annals of "Zip," one finds a picturesque nomenclature.

The coming five hundred mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30th, will produce the regular list of new nicknames. The Continental entry will be known as "The Scarab," getting its name from a peculiar full fin which it carried for balance.

TRUANT SCHOOL

CLAIM THAT NEW RULE WORKED INJUSTICE TO THE BOYS

The following communication relative to the North Chelmsford Truant school is received.

Editor Sun:

Dear Sir:—I wish to call your attention to the treatment of the boys at North Chelmsford Truant school. Before the present superintendent took charge a boy could get released by securing 4,000 merits in one year. He could earn 400 a month by good conduct. A large number of boys had secured the merits required for release but the new superintendent changed the rule, took their merit standing away and made 6,000 merits the number to secure release. He gave each boy 1000 to begin with for each year he boy had been in the institution, at the injustice of the new rule lay a depriving the boys of the freedom they had earned under the regular rules of the institution. This was unjust and it must have impressed the boys as something in the nature of an outrage. The new rule will add at least five months to the length of time the boys are to be detained in the school. Another rule forbidding boys to speak to each other during working hours, or on the way to or from church on Sundays is very trying on the boys. It is also very harsh to forbid the parents or friends of boys not to bring them candy, fruit or anything of that kind on visiting days.

The superintendent, I understand, has the power to keep a boy in the institution until he reaches the age of 16 years; but it does seem that there is no need of such stringent rules and above all, no justification for breaking faith with the boys who earned their release and were then deprived of the reward of their year's merit.

Thanking you for your space,

Very truly yours,

Parent.

THE TOURING CLUB

Urges Care and Consideration by Drivers

While the popularity of motor car touring has increased with tremendous strides during each succeeding year, following closely the general advancement in the perfection of cars, as well as improved highways and their proper maintenance, it is predicted that the present year will be characterized by some novel features in respect to the number of tourists and the thousands of miles travelled. If the inquiries now being received at the Touring Club of America in New York City are any criterion.

Since the close of the touring season last year there have been a number of changes in the state motor vehicle laws and many municipalities have enacted new ordinances governing the operation of motor vehicles, modified in nearly every instance on the uniform traffic regulations promulgated and recommended by the Touring club. Among the most important of these prohibitions the use of the muffler outlet, smoking motor exhausts and dangerous and reckless driving on the streets are adequately limited.

In many localities the traffic regulations restrain the indiscriminate use of automobile signals except as a warning of danger. It is obvious that tourists should always drive through cities and villages with the utmost caution, observing particularly the rules of the road and the rights of pedestrians. In approaching a street car which has stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the driver of an automobile should slow down, and if the street is narrow, come to a stop, not attempting to drive past the car until the way is clear. Under no circumstances should the automobile pass the street car except on the right hand side.

The average motorist, out for a few days' recreation on strange roads and amid new scenery may always be relied upon to be a careful driver. It contributes not only to the safety of those in his car but also shows due regard for the rights of other users of the highways and therefore indirectly is a valuable means of conserving the legitimate rights of the motorist.

The Touring Club in advocating safe and sane driving has exerted a salutary influence in this phase of touring which has been most beneficial to the automobile industry and trade as well as to users of the public highways.

An appreciation of the Touring club's advocacy of uniformity in motor vehicle laws and regulations is exemplified in a leading editorial from which the following pertinent excerpts are quoted:

"In the question of signals to be used, in the matter of muffler cutouts and in the question of lamp equipment uniform legislation should be aimed at. In one city one form of signal is required in an adjoining city a different form is stipulated, so that it is necessary in certain sections of the country to carry at least three different kinds of warning signals. If the driver is to obey the signal laws in the different places passed through in a day's tour, this question should be corrected. It is hardship to the motorists and is an antiquated restriction on a modern industry. In country districts the inhabitant of the village along the main highway objects to the needless noise created by the tourist at night and he today is working against the tourist. The majority of the car makers are in favor of greater quietness in the operation of motor vehicles."

are heartily in accord with all legislation pointed in that direction. The time is not far distant when the use of the cutout will not be a matter of concern to the tourist who expects to drive his car through half a dozen different states on a three weeks' vacation tour."

The best ever, W. R. S. A. Dance, Friday eve.

THE BATTLE IS ON

Presidential Primaries Were Held Throughout the State Today

BOSTON, April 30.—Scarcely had the echoes of one of the most strenuous campaigns in Massachusetts ceased vibrating between Cape Cod and the Berkshires when the voters were starting for the ballot boxes today to vote in the first presidential primary in the Bay State. In many places the polls opened in the morning hours. Boston and Newburyport set the pace in opening the primary followed by Lynn, Salem, and Haverhill, and then by a number of small towns in Plymouth and Barnstable counties.

In a majority of the 353 cities and towns, however, the voting was to begin in the afternoon and as the polls are not to be closed until 9 p. m. in these places definite results of the great contest between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt and the fight for the democratic nomination were not expected until late today or perhaps Wednesday morning.

Weather conditions were dubious. A northeast rainstorm last night failed to clear today and the primaries were held under lowering clouds with William, moist breeze from the sea. Whether this would have any effect on the prospects of either President Taft or Col. Roosevelt, on the size of the vote for Congressman Robert M. La Follette or on the chances of Speaker Clark or of Gov. Wilson could only be conjectured. In all precincts in the cities where the balloting began at 6 a. m. automobiles were whisked about, bringing aged and infirm voters to the polls and the full party machinery for getting out the vote was in action. Both the Taft and Roosevelt managers were confident of victory.

For Clerical Job in Adjutant General's Office

City Clerk Flynn has received notice from the civil service commission of a competitive examination, May 29, for a male clerk in the office of the adjutant general and "similar vacancies as they may occur." The salary is $1200 a year. Only those who have been a resident of Massachusetts for at least one year and who have been commissioned officers in the military service of the commonwealth for at least one year have a right to apply.

The examination will include letter-writing, spelling, hand-writing, transcribing, rough draft, rapid copying, rapid consultation and arithmetic.

Application blanks may be obtained, in person or by letter, from the civil service commission at the state house.

EVERYBODY ENJOYS YELLOWSTONE PARK

You can't help but enjoy it—for Uncle Sam has reserved here a 2,000,000 acre play ground filled with the most wonderful scenery in the world. Giant and baby geysers, mud volcanoes, hot springs, gorgeous colored rocks, tremendous waterfalls, mysterious lakes, disappearing rivers—sky piercing mountains piled high everywhere. Either by way of stage with hotel stops or the more care-free camp routes, Yellowstone Park will refresh your body and cheer your heart. If you go on the Burlington I'll see to it that you are relieved of all bothersome little details. I'll employ by the Burlington Route to help you plan your trip, engage your sleeping berth, deliver your tickets into your hands and be useful in every other way I can. Special rates start June 1st. Write me a postal telling when you want to go and I'll send you finely illustrated books about Yellowstone Park, quote you prices for the entire trip and give you a lot of interesting information.

SOME PRESSING SCHOOL PROBLEMS

One of the problems that should receive the attention of the superintendent of schools at the present time is that of providing the best possible educational equipment for the boy or girl who has to leave school at the age of fourteen. It is safe to say that a large proportion of such pupils have to leave the grammar school before reaching the final grade. That is a serious misfortune, as by so doing the important work of the ninth year is missed.

The last school report issued states that the average age of the pupils entering the high school is fourteen years and ten months. That is practically a year over the age at which many pupils have to leave school in order to go to work. It is plain, therefore, that these leave school on or before reaching the end of the eighth grade. The pupils of this grade have but a very limited knowledge of arithmetic while their knowledge of grammar is exceedingly rudimentary.

For a nine years' course from the lowest primary to the highest grammar grade the result attained in some of the schools are very disappointing. Yet it appears that a great many pupils have to spend more than nine years in order to graduate from the grammar schools. This should not be the case and it would not be so if the grading was what it ought to be. But with the lock-step annual promotions and the number thrown back to repeat the work of a whole year, it is no wonder that general progress and efficiency are sacrificed to uniformity which holds back the bright pupils by causing them to wait for the dull or backward. Both are injured, one by being held back, the other by being pushed on faster than he can go only to be pushed back again to the starting point of the year's work. This putting a pupil back to go over the work a second time is an admission that he was not properly graded in the previous year; but where promotions come but once a year this is inevitable, for, as the class starts like a military company on march, all have to keep step until the end of the course. Then if any has been carried along beyond his speed the remedy is to "repeat." If the boy dislikes this he rebels, refuses to go to school and is sent to the truant school.

Something should be done to remedy this evil that has sent so many children to the truant school from which, by the way, it is difficult to get them out before they reach the age of sixteen years. What is imperatively needed by our schools then is first, such a revision of the course of study as will give the boy leaving school at fourteen better equipment than he receives at present; and, second, a system of grading and promotions that will have due regard for the pupil's individuality and allow all pupils to advance as fast as they are able and thus break up the chain gang system of promotions.

The course of study is behind the times. The grammar school pupils should have a little geometry as well as algebra, and they should be better grounded in arithmetic and composition.

Manual training should be taught in the two highest grades of the grammar school, but we cannot expect the city to go to that expense until something is done to improve the handwriting which is in a demoralized condition.

The schools of Lowell are behind those of other progressive cities in many ways, and the people are not getting their money's worth in education. The chief question that has engaged the attention in the past is who should fill the places rather than the attainment of the highest educational results.

The teachers of Lowell compare favorably with those of most other cities and are willing to work towards any goal set before them, but the proper directive force has been lacking for a considerable time.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

Those who heard President Taft speak at the Opera House yesterday could not help sympathizing with him for two reasons: First, because he, as president of the United States, had to appear to defend himself against false charges and misrepresentations by the ex-president; and, second, because he was so hoarse that he could talk only under great physical strain and at the risk of serious injury to his health. As between the two rival candidates, Taft and Roosevelt, the former is a safe and conservative executive, one who can be relied upon to work honestly for the best interests of the country. He stands for the protection of the courts, the only bulwark this nation has at the present time against socialism, populism and anarchy. Roosevelt has embraced almost every form of radicalism that has been suggested by the populists and socialists, and he has gone farther than all of them in his opposition to the supremacy of the courts. He favors the recall of judges and the submission of judicial decisions to the people for revision. With such dangerous doctrines he would be in his element as associate leader of the I. W. W. with Haywood, Trautman & Co. He viciously assails Mr. Taft, but it is almost a certainty that were it not for Taft's diplomacy as secretary of state while Roosevelt was president, we could have had another war on our hands. It is quite probable also that had Roosevelt been president during the last four years we should have had a war with Mexico or possibly with Japan. The people who favor Roosevelt do not seem to realize what a dangerous character he is and what a menace he would be to the peace and prosperity of this nation if he were elected president for the next four years.

But of his election, we believe there is no danger as his nomination would ensure the election of the democratic candidate, which is what the country needs at the present time.

The thing certain in regard to Governor Wilson is that he can make as interesting speech as any candidate in the field on either side and he talks Jeffersonian democracy at all times. In his official capacity as governor of New Jersey he put the same democratic principles in practice. When he is abused and vilified by Hearst only proves that he looms up as a democratic candidate, a man who if nominated could be elected.

Lowell has it Roosevelt or revolution. He evidently thinks Roosevelt is a great upstart thing that the curb breakers would be able to do some thing with. Perkins.

AFTER WATER

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green grass,
Flow gently, I'll sing thee a song in thy praise;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Thou stock-dove, whose echo resounds through the glen,
Ye wild whistling blackbirds in yon thorny den,
Thou green-crowned lapping, thy screaming forbear—
I charge you, disturb not my slumbering fair.

How softly, sweet Afton, thy neighboring hills,
Far marked with the courses of clear, winding rills;
There daily I wander as noon rises high,
My flock and my Mary's sweet cot in thy eye.

How pleasant thy banks and green valleys below,
Where wild in the woodlands the primroses blow;
There oft in the twilight I sweep over the stream—
The sweet-scented birch shades my Mary and me.

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely it glides,
And winds by the cot where my Mary reclines;
How wondrous thy waters her snowy feet lave,
As gathering sweet flowers she stems thy clear wave.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green grass,
Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

—Robert Burns.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Confederate-Citizen. A reader of the Springfield Republican complains because it accepts Roosevelt, advertising while its editorial columns are opposed to the colonel. He believes that this is inconsistent. But it isn't. The advertisement is the sweetest touch of mortal life.

"There are two stones we may not dare to cast. The stone of stumbling in our brother's way. The stone of judgment at our brother's past. We who ourselves like sheep have gone astray."

"You may not preach a great sermon, write a great song, or be a great hero, but you may perform some little deed which will bless the world."

"Yesterday is dead—forget it; tomorrow does not exist—don't worry; today is here—use it."

"The world has no room for cowards. We must all be ready somehow to tell, to suffer, to die. And your work is not the less noble because no drum beats before you when you go out into your daily battlefields, and no crowds shout about your coming when you return from your daily victory or defeat."

"Dull drudgery, 'gray angel of success,' enduring purpose, waiting long and long. Headache or heartache, blent with sign or song. Forever dawning mid the strike and stress: Within the black confines of your dis-

Are laid the firm foundations, deep and strong. Whereon men build the right against the wrong. The toll-wrought monuments that lift and bless."

He is once more taking them into his confidence and making predictions to them as confidently as ever he used to predict that old Trinity would go first to 60 then to 100 though to the utterance of many a pocketbook the old Trinity stock persisted in slumping instead of rising and can now be had for 3 or 4 instead of 60 or 100.

So with his Amalgamated drives. That fellow, as he would call it, of the stock market never would let him be taken in by his followers to land up for a rise.

But he is an amusing and entertaining chap to all those who know enough to stay on the sidelines and watch him send his benders, his twisters, his in-shoots and outshoots and reverse curves over the plate to the complete befuddlement of the said portion of the public which persists in being the goat.

WILSON'S TRUMP CARD. Hartford Courant. Dr. Woodrow Wilson married his wife in Savannah—a bit of history which was not forgotten, you may be sure, in speech to the Savannah democrats recently.

"When I went to the clerk of the court to get the marriage license," said the doctor, "and gave him the name of the young lady, that official took off his glasses and looked at me steadily for several moments, and then informed me that I was marrying into a very fine family. I responded that I knew it, but hoped that he did not deem me entirely unworthy of that honor." Before leaving Savannah, the Wilsons made a pilgrimage to the Presbyterian manse where the wedding occurred, and the church in which Dr. Axson, Mrs. Wilson's grandfather, preached for more than a generation. Whether the doctor gets the votes of Alabama's big neighbor away from Mr. Underwood, he played his trump card when he took his Georgia wife along with him on his campaigning expedition.

THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED. Providence Journal: A statement of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, covering its operations in March, says: "The increased volume of business was done only at heavy increased cost, but as the company's primary motive was a determination to satisfy its patrons, the management felt justified in incurring the expense."

What an agreeable attitude, and how different from the traditional policy of a famous railroad magnate of an earlier era! "The public be pleased" might well be made the motto of every American transportation company, and printed copies could appropriately be posted where the eye of every officer and employee would encounter them each day.

A LONG ENGAGEMENT. That we know things better by test than mere theory was amply attested by the vigorous farewell accorded the Fannie Hatfield Stock company by the patrons of the Academy of Music at their final performance Saturday night. During their act the company was presenting a magnificent floral piece, a company's engagement of twenty-two weeks. Not contented with this the applause continued until Mr. Tom Whalen, Eddie La Rose and John McDonald were forced to contribute their share. During their engagement here the Hatfield Stock company never failed to score a distinct hit. Thus closed one of the most pronounced stock runs in Lowell's theatrical history.

using pages of a newspaper are open to all who care to buy space for the presentation of arguments to the readers—either for business or politics—so long as the matter offered is fit to print. That fact does not effect the paper's position in the slightest. In the Republican's case it has afforded opportunity for the printing of social editorial from "reading notices" which the advertisers may not like, but that is the editor's privilege and one quite frequently exercised in campaigns of one kind or another. Some of the political advertising all over the state the past few weeks has been pretty poor stuff, but that is no reason why it should be excluded from "the public press"—beloved expression of the "dope and trust" style of politician.

LABOR BILL REPORTED

A LITTLE NONSENSE

It Curbs the Power of Court as to Injunctions

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A broad anti-injunction bill, such a measure as has long been advocated by labor unions throughout the country, was favorably reported to the house yesterday by Chairman Clayton of the judiciary committee.

The bill provides that injunctions in labor disputes shall be issued only after the defendants have had opportunity to answer the complaint against them.

It also provides that courts shall issue restraining orders for but seven days, and these only where the complaint shows that he will be done irreparable injury if the order is not issued.
